DENY SEAMEN TOSSED FLAG INTO RIVER

'All a Mistake,' Jap Leaders Explain In Holding Ships Captive Near Shanghai.

RETURN ITALIAN CRAFTS

Claim Vessels Were Seized In Mop Up of Chinese Boats to Carry Jap Arms.

SHANGHAI — (AP)—The Japanese navy returned to its owners with apologies today an American-owned launch, seizure of which by Japanese sailors yesterday drew a protest from the United States consul general.

Apparently disturbed by strong reaction in the United States, the Japanese returned two American flags with the vessel.

They also handed back to their owners two Italian vessels with apologies that their seizure yesterday was "all a mistake."

Deny Flag Incident.

Japanese assertions that Japanese sailors had not thrown the United States flag into the Whangpoo river when they took over the vessel were confirmed by United States consulate officials.

The William Hunt Steamship company, owner of the launch, had reported the alleged disrespect to the flag to American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss, who protested yesterday against seizure of American property and discourtesy to the flag.

Officials explained that the flag merely had been handed down to an adjoining Chinese launch at the time the American vessel was seized.

A Japanese embassy spokesman earlier today explained that the launch was seized under Japan's blockade regulations and declared the Japanese navy had felt certain that it was the propery of the Chinese government.

He said that the American flag in question had been hauled down by the Chinese crew of the launch and added that it was in Japanese naval custody.

Seized Other Vessels.

Japanese forces had seized a number of Chinese vessels to transport supplies and troops to the interior for their drive against Nanking. Reinforcements moved steadily westward.

Japanese reported capture of Kiangyin forts, where Chinese had blockaded the Yangtze river approach to Nanking with a boom of sunken junks.

Laurel and Hardy To Feature First of 'Can Matinees'

Hoot Gibson, Buck Jones, Tom Mix—all the two-gun men of the screen have to take a back seat when Laurel and Hardy take to the great open spaces, as they do in "Way Out West," which the Madison will bring to the youngsters of Mansfield Saturday morning at the first "can matinee."

For one big can of fruit or vegetables, either from mother's cellar or the grocer's shelves, a youngster may see a two-hour show, which will include the Laurel and Hardy full length feature, an Our Gang comedy, and a cartoon.

The canned food collected from the can matinee wil lbe distributed in the Christmas baskets to needy families the day before Christmas, from the Salvation Army home by the Three Musketeers. Other theaters will give matinees later.

C. of C. President

JUDGE C. H. HUSTON

HUSTON CHOSEN C. OF C. HEAD

Judge Elected by Directors at Annual Meeting; Williams Renamed Secretary.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston was elected president of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce as the board of directors held their annual meeting last night.

Judge Huston will succeed Carl H. Henkel, vice president and treasurer of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company, who has held the office for the past year.

Paul W. Williams was re-appointed secretary-manager of the chamber for the fourth year. Other officers chosen by the board were Harold W. Arlin, supervisor of industrial relations at Westinghouse, as first vice president and William A. Bowers, assistant secretary of the Mechanic's Building and Loan company re-elected treasurer.

By virtue of his recent election as president of the Retail Merchants association, C. M. Crafton becomes second vice president of the chamber.

Henry L. Goemann, national councilor of the chamber, also was re-elected.

Henkel complimented the board of directors in the selection of Judge Huston as his successor and said that a new president should be appointed annually.

"This tends to build leadership and gives an opportunity for more citizens to serve the community and thereby makes the Chamber of Commerce a better agency for serving the general public," Henkel said.

Williams said today that an early meeting of the board of directors will be held to name various committees to serve for the ensuing year.

CLEARINGS DROP

Business Recession Reflected In Bank Figures.

Mansfield bank clearings last month showed the effects of the nation-wide business slump, dropping to $7,320,586 from $8,575,249 in October.

The November figures, still $95,000 ahead of clearings for November last year, brought total clearings so far in 1937 to $94,447,396, an increase of nearly $23,000,000 over figures for the same 11 months of last year.

The decrease during the last five months, however, eliminated any possibility of the 1937 clearings equalling those for 1929, the record business year in Mansfield, Dale Kaylor, secretary of the Clearing House association, said.

Figures for April, May and June this year were above the 1929 totals for the same months. But the business picture suddenly changed, and this year's clearings are now $7,684,000 below the all-time high, Kaylor said.

NOT INTERESTED?

Vandenberg Tells Boosters He's Not Presidential Candidate.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan is "not a candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination and "should not be put in a false position" he wired friends here who today proposed a Vandenberg-for-President club.

E. Mont Reily, known as "the original Harding-for-President man," was among the leading Vandenberg boosters.

HUNT 2ND GUNMAN

CLEVELAND—(AP)— Detectives sought a second gunman today following capture of one man who, they said, confessed participating in the holdup-slaying of Fred Raymont, 68, confectionery proprietor, shot for refusing to yield $10 in change.

LABOR UNIONS BUCK DAVEY'S RELIEF PLANS

Fund Matching 'Impractical,' Ohio Representatives Say at Protest Session.

BACK COMMITTEE'S PLAN

Both A. F. of L., CIO Groups From 31 Cities Launch Opposition Drive.

COLUMBUS, O.—(AP)—Opposition to Gov. Martin L. Davey's 50-50 relief matching program came today from a new source.

More than 100 representatives of Ohio labor unions unanimously condemned the governor's plan already vigorously opposed by officials of Ohio's major cities, as "monstrous and impractical" and voted to support, with reservations, the joint legislative committee's relief program.

Both Before Assembly.

Both plans are before the current special session of the legislature. Governor Davey's proposal recommends joint contributions by the state and local governments in a $15,000,000 annual program and that of the committee, which also bears approval of the Ohio League of Municipalities, calls for a $16,000,000 expenditure, $12,000,000 of which would be provided by the state.

The labor meeting was called yesterday by John Owens, regional director of the committee for industrial organization and president of District Six, United Mine Workers of America, concurrently with the legislative session in order, he said, "that labor leaders might assist in drafting and passing an Ohio relief bill."

Many labor leaders have been at loggerheads with Governor Davey due to his use of National Guard troops in the "little steel" strike last spring. Delegates from 31 Ohio cities, representing both the CIO and the American Federation of Labor, attended the meeting.

Eleven 'Reservations.'

The "reservations" were 11 amendments to the joint legislative group's program, proposed by a committee of 34, headed by Chairman R. E. Reisinger of Cleveland and Secretary Kenneth L. Cole of Toledo.

Thomas Williams of Mansfield, a member of the committee to formulate the labor organization's poor relief program, attended the meeting in Columbus yesetrday. He is a former president of Delano lodge, 169, Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

COLD TO LET UP A BIT THURSDAY

Tomorrow To Be Warmer; Mercury Drops to 14 in Night.

Slightly warmer Thursday, said the weatherman today, and that was welcome news, in view of the fact that the mercury skidded down to 14 above last night, a degree lower than on the preceding night.

At noon today, Observer Otto Sprunger reported a reading of 30, and the 24-hour average as 22.5, which is far below the normal for the date, 35.5.

Both tonight and Thursday are scheduled to be cloudy, while today, though sharp, was clear.

LAUNCH NEW FREIGHTER

LORAIN—(AP)—A new freighter to carry ore on the Great Lakes will be launched here Thursday. Miss Constance Miller, daughter of former Gov. Nathan L. Miller of New York, will christen the ship Governor Miller.

Here's Low-Down on Christmas Show—It'll Be Mansfield's 'Passing Parade of 1937'

The Passing Parade of 1937 . . .

And what we mean, the Christmas charity show Dec. 18 is going to be a parade, and everyone loves a parade.

Here's the low-down on the big annual show, and the show itself will be sort of a low-down on Mansfield. In other words, Mansfield is going to see itself as others see it.

The Passing Parade, moving swiftly across the stage of the Ohio theater, will BE Mansfield, with the best the town has to offer in the way of talent and an hilarious review of political and civic events. There will be a revue of the very best dancing, singing, and band music the town offers; the entire show is being written by Mansfield people (with the exception of the songs), directed by Mansfield people and will be topped with a merry panning of public figures that will rival the annual gridiron dinner of the Washington Press club.

In other words, the things that interest Mansfield will parade, a bit ludicrously perhaps, across the stage for the amusement of the "home folks."

The show will be staged and directed by J. Gilbert

OPENS BIDS ON $160,000 DINING HALL AT O. S. R.

State Architect Compiles Cost Figures; Separate Building Planned by Officials.

The new dining hall and kitchen for Mansfield Reformatory moved a step nearer reality today, as bids were opened in Columbus for the building and equipment.

United Press dispatches from Columbus said the total of all bids opened today for the structure was $138,838. Estimates on the cost of the new building and equipment had been about $160,000.

Present plans, on which Superintendent Arthur L. Glattke has been working with State Architect John O. Schooley, call for construction of a new dining hall, kitchen, with equipment for both, and a cold storage plant.

Tentative plans call for the construction of a one-story building, near the main building, to house the entire addition.

The bidders on the various contracts were listed by Schooley as follows:

General, Skilken Bros., Columbus, $103,450; elevator, Capital Elevator company, Columbus, $4,375; refrigerator, York Ice Machine company, Cleveland, $9,200; corking, United Cork Co., $3,570; heating, W. L. Schmidt, Dayton, $7,307; plumbing, Hanley Plumbing company, Columbus, $7,099; electric work, Barnes-Joy Engineering company, Lima, $3,837.

TRADE UNIONS RE-ORGANIZE

W. E. Watkins Named President of Revamped Central Labor Body.

William E. Watkins, a member of the moulders union today was the new president of the Mansfield Trades Council.

Watkins was elected by the trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor as they set up a re-organized central council at a meeting in Trades Council hall.

Meeting with the various affiliated groups at Trades Council hall, Alfred T. Murphy of Lima, a representative of the A. F. of L., assisted in re-organization of the unit.

This action was taken following the withdrawal of the six CIO unions from the Trades Council six weeks ago after Murphy had read the expulsion order issued by the A. F. of L. president, William Green.

Other officers of the re-organized Trades Council are: Boyd Ferguson, vice president; W. H. Scott, secretary; Earl Hoover, treasurer; John Conner, guard; Michael Speas, George Schneider, Francis J. Kelley, trustees.

'Death Row' Waits Mrs. Hahn

Her appeal to be allowed to remain in the Cincinnati jail denied by an appellate court ruling today, Anna Marie Hahn, convicted poison murderess, was to be taken to a specially-constructed cell at the Ohio penitentiary today to await death in the electric chair if other appeals fail. Pictures of Mrs. Hahn and the cell which is awaiting her are shown above.

Plea Denied, Blond Anna Goes to 'Death Row' Today

Appeals Court Rejects Motion to Permit Mrs. Hahn To Stay In Cincy Jail—Bids Son Farewell.

CINCINNATI—(AP)—The court of appeals denied a motion today to permit Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn to remain in jail here pending her appeal against a death sentence for the poison slaying of Jacob Wagner.

Preparations for her transfer to death row in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus got under way immediately, with indications that the move would be made late today.

Hiram Bolsinger of her defense staff presented the motion, declaring it was "to the defendant's best interest that she stay here." Asked by Presiding Judge Simon Ross if she was requesting a stay of execution, Bolsinger replied in the negative and the motion was denied.

As the party to accompany her was being made up, Mrs. Hahn issued a statement through her attorney thanking jail officials for the treatment she had received.

"I want to thank Mr. Andrew Frank, warden of the Hamilton county jail, and the matrons and others with whom I have come in contact at the jail and sheriff's office, especially Sheriff George A. Lutz, for the kind and courteous treatment they gave me," she said.

Mrs. Hahn left her son, Oscar, with the reassuring words "Mother's going to be all right" as she embraced him in jail quarters.

The tousle-haired boy, however, apparently detected the worried appearance of his mother, matrons reported.

IN COURT AGAIN

Budd's Fight to Regain Son's Custody Up In Ashland.

William F. Budd of Perrysville who figured in a kidnaping case in Richland county courts last August was scheduled to appear before Common Pleas Judge C. C. Chapman at Ashland this afternoon in his long fight to regain custody of his nine-year-old son, Billy.

On probation in Richland county for kidnaping the boy last summer, Budd seeks to recover his son from the child's mother, Mrs. Blanche Budd of Ashland, who has had the boy's custody since she and Budd were divorced last February.

Budd and his second wife, Mrs. Freda Budd, admitted seizing the boy at Butler in August when he was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Samuel Bemiller. Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston placed the couple on probation for two years and told them to take their battle for the child to the Ashland county courts.

DIES IN PLUNGE

Ohioan Killed When Truck Falls Over 25-Foot Hill.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—The body of a man was found today in the wreckage of a light truck at the foot of a 25-foot embankment in Brecksville, a suburb.

The man died either from exposure or injuries, according to Marshal William Larkman of Brecksville. The body was tentatively identified as that of Robert Shaw, 33, of Lakewood.

WPA ROLLS CLIMB

WASHINGTON —(AP)— WPA work relief rolls increased 11,607 during the week ended November 13. The WPA said today 1,500,094 were on the rolls at that time.

3-POINT PLAN SET UP TO CURB DELINQUENCY

Advisory Council's Program Aims at Legislative and Recreation Changes.

In an effort to curb the growing juvenile delinquency problem, the Mansfield Advisory council last night set up a definite program aimed at legislation and recreation.

Meeting in the municipal court chambers, the body named two new committees to take up a three-point plan presented by Probate Judge C. J. Anderson.

The action followed a round-table discussion which brought out the fact that the juvenile delinquency cases have increased to [illegible] the city police [illegible] personnel to handle them.

Judge Cites Problems.

While the discussion was concerned principally with the sale of liquor to minors, the effect of broken homes and the lack of "something to do" on the lives of the children as the cause for delinquency was pointed out by Judge Anderson as the major problem before the group.

A four-member committee, appointed at the last meeting of the council, for the purpose of contacting the county commissioners to learn if funds could be made available for the employment of two additional probation officers to investigate juvenile cases, reported back to the group.

The commissioners, the committee reported, did not have the necessary funds available at the present time. However the possibility that funds might be found after a check-up "sometime during December" lent encouragement that the officers might be added after Jan. 1.

The committee includes Mrs. F. D. Boals and Mrs. D. O. Meese representing the Mansfield P. T. A. council and Attys. Francis O'Brien and Harold Burns of the Junior Association of Commerce.

The committee was instructed by Police Chief Meade K. Bates, acting as chairman of the council, to continue to function and to follow up the matter of added personnel for the local law enforement agencies.

A committee to seek revisions and amendments to the present liquor laws and present them to the next session of the state legislature was also named by Bates.

DUCHESS LISTED IN 'WHO'S WHO'

Windsor's American Bride Placed With Royal Family Names.

LONDON—(AP)—The Duchess of Windsor, American-born wife of Great Britain's former king, entered the British who's who today with publication of the 1938 edition.

The Duchess, who was the former Wallis Warfield of Baltimore, Md., was listed with the royal family as were the wives of the other brothers of King George.

She was the only one of the royal wives, however, whose date of birth and parents were not included. Her divorced husband, Ernst Aldrich Simpson, was not among the 52 Simpsons listed.

TRAIN DERAILED

Engine Rolls Over In Field After Crash Into Cars.

MARTINSBURG, W. Va.—(AP)—A passenger train engine rammed into derailed freight cars on the main line of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad west of Martinsburg today and rolled over in a field. Nobody was injured.

An alert fireman on the feight engine, which was pulling 13 loaded freight cars, averted what might have been a tragic accident by flagging down the oncoming passenger train.

ARCH-ENEMIES SEEK TO HEAL LABOR SPLIT

A. F. of L., CIO Leaders Agree to Take Personal Charge of Peace Parley.

RIVAL NEGOTIATORS FAIL

Federation President Accepts Committee's Bid to Meet In Capital Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John L. Lewis and William Green will take personal charge tomorrow of organized labor's peace negotiations, sitting down together in an attempt to reunite the American Federation of Labor and the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The commanders of labor's warring factions were brought together by Philip Murray, head of the CIO peace committee. He proposed the conference late yesterdayday, and Green promptly accepted the invitation.

Lewis and Murray will be the sole CIO representatives at the meeting. Green will be accompanied by George Harrison, chairman of the AFL peace committee.

Little Accomplished.

Negotiations in the last five weeks have been in the hands of three federation delegates and 10 from the CIO. Although they frequently reported progress, informed persons said they actually had accomplished little.

The joint committee yesterday listed five points at issue, headed by the basic question of whether workers in each major industry should form one large union (the CIO system) or be organized by craft (the AFL method).

[illegible] (2) the [illegible] instance that cause of the federation's executive [illegible] be curbed; (3) Machinery to make an agreement effective; (4) The number of votes to be held by CIO unions in a joint convention to ratify any peace agreement.

Lewis and Green have talked peace once before. They met for lunch last winter in a fashionable hotel here, and discussed the situation for several hours. But they reached no conclusions. Few persons knew about the meeting until weeks afterward.

Face Each Other Again.

The arch-enemies also met in April at a capital-labor conference called by Secretary Perkins. Participants said they shook hands but did not converse.

Contrary to the belief of many, Lewis and Green have been at odds ever since Lewis took office in the United Mine Workers 20 years ago. Green at the time was secretary of the union.

In public view, however, they apparently were good personal friends until they started calling each other names during the AFL-CIO dispute.

DRAFT PROGRAM

Britain, France Work on Plan to Ease War Tension.

LONDON—(U.P.)—Great Britain and France began the preliminary work today for a detailed examination of the possibility of a broad, three-point program for an European peace settlement designed to halt the wild armaments race and relief heightening tension between the democratic and totalitarian powers.

Working in close co-operation, the leading statesmen of the major European democracies shortly will begin drawing up a program envisaging:

An attempt to meet Adolf Hitler's insistent colonial claims, possibly by some form of pooling.

Attempts to bring Benito Mussolini into a new peace system and reducing the danger of a Mediterranean clash arising from chronic Anglo-Italian and Franco-Italian tension.

Contends Proper Anaylsis of People Key to Both Business, Social Success

Wisehaupt Talks to 1,000 In First of 3 Lectures In School Auditorium.

The key to success in business and society is the proper analysis of people, Howard J. Wisehaupt, prominent New York lecturer and character analyst, said last night in the first of a series of three talks before 1,100 persons at the Senior high school auditorium.

Appearing in Mansfield under the sponsorship of The News-Journal, the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants' association, Wisehaupt will speak again at the high school at 8 p. m. today on "Personality in Business." He was to talk to high school pupils at an assembly at 1:45 p. m. today.

"If you want to influence people, get interested in them and understand them; you'll see romance, tragedy and all sorts of fun around you," Wisehaupt told the near capacity audience.

An actor as well as absorbing speaker, Wisehaupt used three "living models" from the crowd to illustrate his method of sizing up men who, he said, can be placed in definite groups.

"The shape of a man's head, his shoulders, hands and general build tell me what that man likes and how to approach him to sell him goods," he declared. "The thin, sensitive man with long fingers is the artist type, requiring vastly different handling than the jolly, heavy-set, luxury-loving fellow," he added.

Wisehaupt urged store and

House Scrap Endangers Crop Control, Wage Measures

MOVEMENT TO SCUTTLE FARM BILL GAINING

Lawmakers From Industrial Centers Want Southerners to Aid Labor Vote.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A behind-the-scenes struggle over crop control and wage-hour bills threw house members today in such turmoil that some legislators said both measures might be endangered.

Representatives of urban and industrial districts indicated they would try to strike cotton provisions from the farm bill unless southern colleagues help get a vote on the labor standards measure.

The labor bloc arranged to organize last night, but postponed the meeting until tonight on the plea of Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee.

Seeks More Backing.

She preferred to see how many of 24 necessary names could be added today to a petition to wrest the wage-hour bill from the rules committee and bring it before the house within a fortnight. The rules committee has prevented house consideration ever since the senate passed the bill last summer.

Although Mrs. Norton said a "double-edged sword" might kill both farm and labor bills, house leaders declared they were not worried about either. Majority Leader Rayburn said he was confident the wage-hour petition would be completed by the end of the week.

In corridor conferences, however, the movement to scuttle the farm bill picked up momentum. Mrs. Norton predicted a "determined bloc" would "make trouble" unless the petition is completed by tonight.

Rep. Gavagan (D-NY) added, "the cotton boys are going to get it."

The labor bill's backers contended they were entitled to support from farm-state congressmen because they always had aided farm legislation. Many southern members have opposed the wage-hour bill on the contention it would harm industrial development in the south.

Need Republican Aid.

Democratic chieftains were in the peculiar position of having to rely on Republican help in the wage-hour impasse. A dozen Republicans have signed the petition, they asid, and more may follow.

In both senate and house, farm legislation entered the final stages of debate. Although opponents have criticized virtually predicted the measures would be all major provisions, sponsors approved with only minor changes.

The house has agreed to consider amendments tomorrow. Any effort to strip cotton benefits from the bill probably will take the form of an amendment.

Culbertsons Part Ways But Remain Bridge Partners

NEW YORK—(AP)—The bridge playing Ely Culbertsons headed in opposite directions today toward dissolution of their card-table romance but with their business partnership which made them millionaires still intact.

They disclosed last night their marriage of 14 years would be terminated by a Reno divorce.

Culbertson was Europe-bound on a business trip to London while his wife, Josephine, was en route by boat to California—and eventually Reno.

"I've lost a garnd slam doubled," Culbertson commented.

Mrs. Culbertson, a statement issued by her lawyer said, will seek a divorce on grounds of mental cruelty. Custody of their two children, Joyce, 10, and Bruce, 9, will be shared equally.

"Ely will remain my friend and I will continue to work with him, but his ultra-temperamental moods make it impossible for me to live with him," Mrs. Culbertson's statement said.

"I am a married man with bachelor instincts," Culbertson said, disclosing his frequent yearning for "complete solitude."

In his talk last night Wisehaupt revealed that missing the authorship of the popular little book was one of the big regrets of his life. "I've been preaching the things in that book for years, and then Carnegie put them into a story and made a small fortune with it," Wisehaupt said regretfully.

DEAD AT 79

Sulphur Springs Resident Had Been Ill Three Weeks.

BUCYRUS — John W. Fiechtner, 79, died Tuesday at his home in Sulphur Springs following a three-week illness. He was born May 25, 1858, in Buffalo, N. Y. He came to Sulphur Springs a few years later where he operated a tinner's shop for a number of years.

Mr. Fiechtner is survived by his wife, Mary Ann, and three daughters, Mrs. Albert Shealy of New Washington, and the Misses Dora and Stella at home. He was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Sulphur Springs.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, and at 2 p. m. at St. Paul's church, with Rev. Carl Mohrhoff officiating. Burial will be made in the church cemetery.

DONAHEY FIGHTS ROAD FUND CUT

Roosevelt Recommendation to Curtail Highway Spending Opposed by Senator.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — President Roosevelt's recommendation for a sharp curtailment in government spending for highway construction met immediate opposition today in the Ohio congressional delegation.

Senator Vic Donahey said he would fight "diverting one cent" of authorized funds away from highway uses.

"Every cent can and should be used for intelligent reconstruction of our roads system," Sen. Donahey said.

Sen. Robert J. Bulkley declined comment on the message.

The president proposed cancellation of 1939 authorizations of $214,000,000 and asked that $200,000,000 already appropriated among the states for the fiscal year 1938 be spread over the years 1938 and 1940. The plan would deprive Ohio of its 1939 apportionment of $7,710,000 and limit federal funds available in the state for the two-year period beginning next July 1, to $8,333,438 the balance remaining from appropriations of the last two years.

Rep. Robert T. Secrest, D., Caldwell, Ohio's member of the house roads committee, said he would oppose any reduction for next year since communities have already prepared their plans in conformity with anticipated grants.

COMMISSION CUTS COAL COST, DOMESTIC CONSUMERS BENEFIT

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Officials of the bituminous coal commission, issuing a minimum price schedule designed to resuscitate the $11,000,000,000 soft coal industry, said today that home owners would share in the benefits.

In the main, they said, the man who fires his own furnace will pay a lower price for coal, but the cost to commercial users will be higher than at present.

The new schedule will go into effect Dec. 16 and will apply to virtually every mine east of the Mississippi and in Iowa—80 per cent of the industry.

Prices at the mine will rance roughly from $1 to $4.85 a ton, to which must be added freight rates, retailers' share, and in some instances, wholesale charges, before the coal reaches the consumer's bin.

The intricate system of price-fixing applied individually to each of several thousand mines. In the welter of figures, it was impossible to arrive at any national comparisons.

The prices as fixed did not jibe with requests of the operators, commission officials disclosed. Home owners' prices were put 5 to 15 per cent under operators' estimates and the industrial rates were boosted 5 to 20 per cent, they said.

Operators who violate the schedule will be subject to a tax of 19½ per cent of the sale price. There were some hints of a possible court test such as invalidated the original Coal Control act. That supreme court decision was based on labor wage clauses which were not included in the present act.

Soft coal miners have backed the new law almost as enthusiastically as the old one. Their union leaders explained that there could be no guarantee of fair wages unless mines operated at a profit. The miners got an $85,000,000 pay raise last April.

ILL 3 WEEKS

John Wesley Pugh, 79, Dies at Home Tuesday.

John Wesley Pugh, 79, retired Mansfield Tire and Rubber company employe, died Tuesday at his home, 223 West Third street, following an illness of three weeks. Mr. Pugh was born Dec. 21, 1858 near Chambersburg, Pa., and came to Mansfield several years later.

He is survived by his wife, Jessie, and four sisters, Mrs. Louise Bishop, Mrs. Robert Carbaugh, Mrs. Ida Hepfer and Mrs. F. D. Slichter all of Chambersburg, Pa. Mr. Pugh was a member of the Mansfield lodge F. & A. M.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m., Friday at the Finefrock funeral home in charge of Rev. Herbert S. Garnes, assisted by Rev. Paul Hollingshead. Burial will be made in the Mansfield mausoleum. The body will remain at the home until time of services.

MRS. SUTTER, 41, DIES IN GALION

Native of City Victim of Pneumonia At Hospital.

GALION—Mrs. Etta Sutter, 41, Galion native and wife of Walter Sutter, 37 Payne avenue, died early today at the Good Samaritan hospital of pneumonia following a short illness. She was born Feb. 8, 1896 in Galion.

Survivors beside her husband are a daughter, Mary, and a son, Mathews Walter, at home; her mother, Mrs. Anna Haas of Galion; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Baker, of Salt Lake City, Utah; Mrs. Chester Deihl of Rainsbury, Pa., and Miss Grace Haas of Galion, and two brothers, Walter and Joseph of Galion. She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

FUNERAL THURSDAY

Funeral services for William C. Crooks, 82, of 309 East Fourth street, who died in General hospital Monday, will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3 p. m. Thursday with Carl A. Cromer, first reader of the First Church of Christ Scientist, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

The survivors include a stepson, John Melching, and a sister, Mrs. Willard Gilkinson, both of Mansfield.

TARGETS FOR TRUCKS

VAILS GATE, N. Y.—(U.P.)—A brick fireplace was demolished and a large hole was gouged into the side of Joseph Gaffney's home when a trailer-truck crashed into the dwelling. Several months ago the front porch was ripped away by a truck.

KEY FIGURE IN DUFFY INQUIRY GETS IMMUNITY

Friend of Dougan, Ex-Chairman of State Board, to Appear Before Jury.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Arch W. Naylor agreed today, Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy said, to tell a special grand jury what he knows about alleged irregularities in Ohio's parole system.

A friend of Leland S. Dougan, former chairman of the state parole board, Naylor has been considered the key man in the investigation of reports that convicts paid fees to get out of prison.

The attorney general said he would grant immunity from indictment to Naylor, who previously refused to leave his cell in a Zanesville jail and appear before the grand jury that has been probing the allegations.

Most Waive Immunity.

Most of the witnesses who have testified before the grand jury since it was impaneled Nov. 22 waived immunity.

Duffy planned to call Naylor before the grand jury immediately. The prospective star witness, who is estranged from his wife, has been detained on open charges for more than a week.

Mrs. Naylor testified on the first day, but suffered a heart attack and has not been called back since, although Duffy said he would seek additional information from her.

Having assured Naylor that he will not be prosecuted, no matter to what extent he might implicate himself, the attorney general hopes to have Naylor repeat for the grand jury record information already disclosed to Duffy. He hopes, too, to obtain considerably more information.

At the same time he also desires to determine if Naylor was an associate of Sherman Chrysler, former Franklin county constable, reported to have approached five prisoners in Ohio penitentiary and offered help in obtaining their release.

Chrysler has testified before the grand jury several times.

Since Naylor has promised to come before the jury here, observers wondered whether the attorney general would go through with his plans for having a special grand jury impaneled in Stark county Dec. 7 to investigate Naylor's activities.

Duffy did not say how the new development would affect the proposed inquiry in Stark county.

CLOSE STREETS

Contractor Starts Asphalt Work on Thoroughfares.

Two city streets which have been opened temporarily since the concrete base has been laid, will be closed again this week, Mayor Earl A. McFarland announced today, for the laying of the asphalt surface.

Springmill street between North Mulberry and Bowman street will be closed today and tomorrow while the asphalt top is being laid by the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company contractors. After the completion of that job they will move to Marion avenue to apply asphalt between Maple and Glessner avenue.

McFarland said that both streets should be opened to through traffic by Saturday.

Both streets were originally scheduled to be completed Nov. 1, but the inclement weather has prevented the contractors from laying the asphalt top.

SCOUTS INVITE DADS TO MEET

Troop 2 to Entertain Fathers With Program Tomorrow.

"Fathers' Night" will be observed by Boy Scout troop No. 2 at a meeting scheduled for 7 p. m. Thursday at Brinkerhoff school.

A special program is being planned for the meeting by David Ott, program chairman. All fathers are invited to attend this meeting.

Assisting with arrangements for the night are Dr. D. C. Lavender, chairman of the troop committee, and Roy Myers, scoutmaster.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

IT HAS BEEN seriously charged—and not by irresponsible people either—that whether Mr. Roosevelt realizes it or not, if the policies he has inaugurated become fully effective the result will be to change our form of government, and that there were men around him who, to use his own expression, deliberately "planned it that way."

This is a charge that has to be denied and is not easy to prove. The New Dealers scoff at the idea, dwell upon the Americanism of the president, assert the allegation comes from frightened "Tories," anxious to hold on to their "ill-gotten gains." Nevertheless the uncontroverted fact is that from the beginning of his first administration he has had among his most influential advisers various men known to favor collectivism and heartily against the capitalistic system. In his recent consideration of steps to "restore business confidence" two such men ironically have been present at his most confidential conferences.

HOWEVER, it is not necessary to rest their case upon their character. No better evidence that a change is sought could be had than that offered by the president's legislative program now pending in congress. One of the fundamental conceptions of the American government, of which for more than a century the Democratic party was the particularly devoted champion, is the rights of the state.

Reservation to the states of all authority not specifically granted to the federal government is basic in our constitution. Prevention of the encroachment of the federal upon the state authority has been considered—particularly by Democrats—as vital to the health of the nation, a disaster requiring continual vigilance to avert. Until 1933 this conviction had formed a conspicuous plank in nearly every Democratic platform for a hundred years.

LEAVING aside the previous progress in this direction by the New Deal, it is accurate to say that the bills which Mr. Roosevelt is now trying to put through congress not only strike at the state rights doctrine but, if enacted as he wants them, will sweep away the last vestige of real authority in the states. They will mean that life in the states will be regulated and supervised from Washington.

THE THREE bills now in Congress, which if enacted as the president wants them, would bring about this change, are these:

First, the new Crop Control bill, which will give to the federal government power to fix in each state the amount of wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton and rice which may be raised annually within its borders, and to impose penalties upon residents of the states for violation of the quota fixed, as well as give rewards for compliance.

Second, the Wage and Hour Control bill, which will give to a federal board power to fix in each state the wages citizens of the states may pay employes, the number of hours they may work and the conditions under which they shall labor.

THE THIRD bill, impossible of passage without administration support, is the so-called Federal Anti-Lynching bill. In the event of a lynching, this gives the government the right to investigate the conduct of local county and state officials, and, if it is concluded by federal officials that the local county officials have not adequately performed their duties, the federal government may penalize both the local official and the local government.

IN VIEW of the clarity with which these bills attack the already weakened rights of the states, and the certainty that they will have to be passed upon by the supreme court, the convictions of Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes are certainly of interest. On Aug. 21, 1830, speaking in Chicago before the American Bar Association, the chief justice said these significant words:

"Paradoxical as it may seem, not only the security but the efficiency of the union lies in the appropriate maintenance of the authority of the states within proper spheres of local government and local policy. Despite all the economic changes and the intimacies of closely related activities, notwithstanding the vast expansion of interstate commerce in novel forms, leading to the unanticipated applications of the national authority, which was granted with extraordinary wisdom in a very general formula, the states continue as reservoirs of power reserved, not conferred, by which they deal with a multitude of particular concerns, and enjoy differentiations congenial to local sentiment."

"HOWEVER difficult it may be, in constitutional interpretation, to maintain perfectly, and to the satisfaction of all, this balance between the state and nation, it is of the essence of American institutions that it should be preserved so far as human wisdom makes this possible, and that encroachments upon state authority, however contrived, should be resisted with the same intelligent determination as that which demands that the national authority should be fully exercised to meet national needs."

It hardly could be stated more clearly than that.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Two views of Carole Lombard in the role of liar, and one of Fred Astaire minus Ginger Rogers, brighten the preview week.

Miss Rogers having gone on her own in "Stage Door," Astaire undertakes a solo for the first time in "A Damsel in Distress." The picture doubtless will be acclaimed for its own sprightly merits, its better than usual story, its twinkling music by the late George Gershwin, and its even more than usual display of Astaire's dancing tricks in eye-halting settings.

The damsel in question—an English girl mildly imprisoned in a castle because she wants to marry an American—is Joan Fontaine, who is required to dance but one simple number with Astaire, her province obviously being in the charm and beauty department. Actually supplanting Ginger Rogers are George Burns and Gracie Allen, here given their best opportunity for laughs, and abetting Astaire in the hoofing end as well.

Even for Astaire-Rogers fans, the picture should carry appeal while whetting the appetite for the next co-starrer, already set.

* * *

In "True Confession" Carole Lombard and Fred MacMurray are merged under Wesley Ruggles' direction in a wild comedy no less funny for its strain on the credulity. Carole plays a wife whose gift for twisting the truth, for convenience rather than evil design, gets her involved in a murder charge. MacMurray is the painfully honest husband who serves as lawyer for the defense, wins her acquittal on a self-defense plea in the belief Carole really is a murderess, which she isn't.

The picture's tongue is in its cheek as often as Carole's is, this being her unconscious tip-off that creative genius is burning and another whopper is coming. Hilarity reaches its highest point in the courtroom scenes, where satirical irreverence of conventional procedure is manifest. Una Merkel, Porter Hall and Lynne Overman shine in support, but John Barrymore, in a pixie-like role that wanders through the reels to provide the climax, is the picture-stealer.

* * *

In "Nothing Sacred" Miss Lombard lies again—pretending she is doomed to slow death from a radium-poisoning when she knows all along the country doctor (Charles Winninger) has erred in diagnosis. She lies when Fredric March, New York reporter in search of a human interest scoop, arrives to offer sympathy and a glorious final fling at his paper's expense.

This situation starts proceedings as slugnutty as any this addlepated movie year has seen, sparkling with Ben Hecht dialogue in the "Front Page" tradition, bristling with Director William Wellman's barbed and lusty pictorial satire of New York on a mass spree of sentimentality, and climaxed by a Lombard-Marsh fist fight which tops all previous screen roughness of the sort. Discounting its necessarily macabre aspects, even the squeamish can find in "Nothing Sacred" a picture notable for savagely honest humor and gust.

Three Members of Family To Be Honored at Rams' Grid Party.

By OSCAR RUHL

THE Weimer family will be well represented at the football banquet to be staged for the Madison high school Rams tonight. There are three Weimer boys on the team, Bob, Dave and Walter, all linemen. They are brothers. . . Pittsburgh claims to be the first school ever to broadcast a football game. The original contest put on the air was the 1921 game with Nebraska, first of the present series with the Huskers. If we're not mistaken, the announcer was Harold W. Paul Brown, tutor of Massillon's great team, loaned his team's rubber pants to Sharon for the New Castle game, and Sharon won. Sweet revenge! Massillon's only defeat this season was 7-0 by New Castle. . . . There are only 94 applications for coaching jobs with the Cleveland Indians. The strongest candidate is John Bassler, old Detroit catcher, not "Duster" Mails. . . . When the annual football rules meeting is held, the coaches will urge return of the goal posts, widening of the sideline zones from 10 to 15 yards and legalizing of passes from any point behind the line of scrimmage. All three rules have been adopted by the professionals.

HEAR AIKEN AT BANQUET

JIMMY AIKEN

Rams to Be Honored at Annual Grid Dinner at Madison Tonight.

The man who turned in the best Ohio coaching job of the year will be the principal speaker at the annual banquet tendered members of Madison high school grid club at the school at 6:15 p. m. today.

He is Jimmy Aiken, University of Akron coach, who guided his team through a difficult nine-game schedule which netted seven victories. Aiken accomplished this fine record with a squad of only 17 men.

Rewarded With Contract.

His efforts were rewarded last week when he was given a three-year contract. Aiken worked his first two years at Akron without a signed agreement.

Aiken was an outstanding end at Washington & Jefferson, and following his graduation coached at Martins Ferry, Findlay, Toledo Scott and Canton McKinley.

The Akron coach was responsible for developing Martins Ferry and Canton McKinley into Ohio powers.

While at Findley, Aiken coached Art Huston, former Ohio State and Mansfield semi-pro star. His Findlay team administered one of the worst defeats ever suffered by Toledo Scott in football. He later took over the Scott reins, and continued to develop strong teams.

Aiken arrived in the city early today to spend the day with his old friend, Coahc Russ Murphy of Mansfield high, who will also appear on the program honoring the Mid-State league champions tonight.

Award Grid Letters.

Coach Al Fendrick of the Rams will award letters to members of the squad, and the new captain will be presented at the banquet.

D. Osborne Meese, former Mansfield high and Princeton star, will serve as toastmaster.

Yunckers Open With Inmates

Sports Boast Strong Lineup For Thursday Game.

The Yuncker Sports will inaugurate their 1937-38 cage season Thursday night when they invade the Mansfield Reformatory for a tilt with the strong Reformatory outfit.

One of the entries in the City Class A league this season, Yunckers boast one of the strongest machines in the city. The three main cogs of the club were members of Dominion Electric's City league champions last year. They are Tom Farrell, Al Stickler, and Mike Wentz. New members on the club are Bob Bogantz, a member of Ontario's classy Richland county league champions last season; Jack Miner and Harry Munster.

Senior League Set To Open

The Senior basketball league will swing into action Thursday night with a three-game program at the Friendly House. Six combines comprise the circuit this season.

The opening games will see Dinger's Independents tackling Moritz all-stars in the first tilt at 6:45 o'clock; Mike Paul's Rex Billiards facing Zeigler's Independents and the Blue Goose playing Benny's Hi-notes. Underwood and Bosko will be the officials.

BARONS PLAY AT HOME

Meet Springfield, Providence at Arena This Week.

CLEVELAND—Cleveland's victory starved hockey Barons face anything but easy sailing this week as they hope for their second International-American hockey league win of the year. Three tough customers, two of them at the Arena, await Coach Bill Cook's charges.

Wednesday night will see the Barons playing the Springfield Indians at the Arena. Saturday night the Providence Reds will perform at the Arena. Sunday the Barons trek to Syracuse.

SWINGS FIRST DEAL

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—The St. Paul club of the American association swung the first deal at the baseball minor league meeting yesterday by buying outfielder George Stumpf from Kansas City.

JAPANESE WINS

LOS ANGELES—Umio Gen, 130, Japan, and Chu Mah, 130, Mexico, drew, (10).

Tygers to Give New Cage Rule Change Initial Trial Friday

Mansfield basketball fans will get more for their money in the way of action when the Tygers open their 1937-38 season Friday against Akron Kenmore on the home court than they ever did before in a game.

This claim is based principally on the elimination of the center jump, which was cut out of the rules last spring.

No longer will the ball be thrown up at center after baskets. The ball goes out-of-bounds after each basket to the defensive team, and this change will speed up the game more than anything else ever attempted.

The jump elimination will add approximately two minutes of playing time to each quarter, according to tests.

The faster game is expected to make the sport more interesting for spectators. It will no longer be dominated by big men, although they will be valuable for rebound purposes.

Coach Russ Murphy refuses to pass judgment on the new rule until he has seen it in operation, but he admits it will speed up play, result in more substitutions and demand better conditioned athletes.

Murphy has his athletes well conditioned for the opening test. The Tyger candidates have been working out daily, and Murphy apparently is satisfied with the progress they have made since the entire squad has been working together.

TIM NOLAN'S GRAPPLERS TO STAGE WEEKLY SHOW AT ARMORY TONIGHT

Forced out of the Armory Monday due to the indoor army maneuvers staged there during the early part of the week, Tim Nolan's grapplers will hold their weekly show at the Ashland road arena tonight.

Two matches, both of which are carded for two best out of three falls with an hour and a half time limit, will co-feature the program, and both contests are a part of the lightheavyweight tournament which the Quality club has been conducting.

HOST TO WOMEN FANS

Tonight will be "Ladies' Night" at the Quality club wrestling show at the Armory, and Promoter Tim Nolan announced today the first 200 women to arrive will be admitted free.

In the finale of the program, Bobby Blake of Columbus, one of the leading lights of the tourney, will face the colorful Mexican contender, Jose Rodriquez of Mexico City.

Both Blake and Rodriquez are flashy wrestlers of the fast, open type and a sensational match is expected when they meet.

Also in the tournament, Mike Kibbons, Oklahoma A. & M. university will meet Sterling "Silver Streak" Davis of Houston, Tex

The preliminary will be a one-fall, 20-minute event in which Francis Steele, motor officer from Plymouth, will wrestle "Flash" Clifford of Peru, Ind.

REDS MAKE FIRST DEAL

Buy Catcher From Newark; Cleveland Transfers Four to Brewers.

MILWAUKEE—(U.P.)—The Cincinnati Reds, one of the biggest disappointments of the 1937 baseball season, began their rebuilding campaign today by making the first important player deal of the annual minor league meetings.

Willard Hershberger, 26-year-old catcher of the Newark International league championship club, was obtained by the Reds in exchange for Shortstop Eddie Miller. First Baseman Les Scarsella and cash. Miller becomes the outright property of the Newark club and Scarsella is sent out under option.

Hershberger batted .322 in 96 games for the Newark club and was one of the outstanding figures in the Bears amazing comeback to wrest the "little world series" champion from the Columbus American association club after dropping the first three games.

The acquisition of Hershberger is one of the first of series of deals anticipated by the Reds in an effort to build up a pennant contender under Bill McKechnie, the new pilot.

"Our club will be given a general overhauling," said McKechnie. "We are willing to part with anybody on our roster except three young pitchers, Lee Grissom, Johnny Vander Meer and Whitey Moore, providing we could obtain players we believe would strengthen our club."

The minor league convention held its first business session today with routine matters on the program.

Cleveland announced the transfer of four players to the Milwaukee American association club in part payment for Third Baseman Kenny Keltner. They are Pitcher Al Milnar and Catcher Joe Becker, outright, and Pitcher Tom Drake and Infielder Oscar Grimes, on option.

Annex Initial Circuit Games

Christian, Baptist, Lutheran, Presby Clubs Win.

Basketeers of First Christian, Baptist, First Lutheran and First Presbyterian registered initial triumphs in the opening round of play in the Church Class B league at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night.

Paced by Nixon who tallied 15 points, the First Christian outfit smothered the B'nai Jacob club, 38 to 11, while the Baptists, led by Condon's 10 points, walloped Central M. E., 25 to 8.

In the other games First Lutheran, with Zeigler leading the way with 10 points, downed First M. E., 25 to 15, and the Presbyterians edged St. Johns, 17 to 14. The Mayflower and South Main Evangelical combines were idle.

BEARS PLAY TIDE, JAN. 1

Alabama Eleven to Play Fifth Contest In Pasadena Rose Bowl.

BERKELEY—(AP)— Alabama's Crimson Tide and the Golden Bears of California, each undefeated, will clash in the nation's oldest New Year's football classic—the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Alamaba has played in the Rose Bowl four times, winning three games and tying one. California has had one victory, one tie and one loss in its three Pasadena games.

"Alabama will play California in the Rose Bowl," was the brief announcement last night from graduate Manager Kenneth Priestley of California, who telephoned the invitation to Tide officials and received their immediate acceptance.

The selection ended two weeks of speculation involving Alabama, Pittsburgh and Fordham, all unbeaten.

Priestley, who had declined even to hint at California's Bowl choice, added earnestly, "I'm certainly glad that's over. It's been a 'hot potato' to me."

He would not say whether invitations had been offered any other schools. Fordham and Alabama had been considered leading contenders after Pittsburgh's surprise withdrawal through a player vote against post-season games. The Bears, Pacific Coast conference champions, scored impressive victories over nine opponents but were held to a surprise scoreless tie by Washington, which finished third in the conference.

Alabama is both unbeaten and untied. The Tide scored lopsided victories over five oponents, but had close calls with Tennessee, Tulane, Georgia Tech and Vanderbilt. Alabama scored 225 points to oponents' 20.

Alabama students, at first incredulous that their team had been invited to the Rose Bowl for the fifth time, staged a noisy campus celebration last night.

Cincinnati Hires Coach

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—In a surprise move the board of directors of the University of Cincinnati today took the first step in a complete reorganization of the school's athletic department by naming Joseph A. Meyer, head football coach, and Charles Mileham as acting director of athletics.

Meyer is a former Notre Dame football star and coached at Xavier University, Cincinnati, for 15 years. He resigned his post with the Musketeers after two games had been played in the 1935 campaign. Mileham has been on the staff at Cincinnati for 10 yaers as head of the intramural department.

The personnel changes resulted in the ousting of Athletic Director Dana M King. King came to Cincinnati in 1930 from Hamilton high school as head football coach. Later he was elevated to the post of athletic director and Russell Coen named as grid mentor.

GAY BLADES AT ARENA

Maribel Vinson to be Featured in Ice Show This Month.

CLEVELAND — Cleveland's Arena will house its second ice show within a five week period Saturday and Sunday, Dec 18 and 19, when the "Gay Blades" arrive for three performances.

Headlining a sensational cast of figure skating stars in the "Gay Blades" cast will be Miss Maribel Y. Vinson of Boston, nine times U. S. champion with Karl Schaefer of Vienna, Olympic champion.

LOUIS RETURNS TO WORK

CHICAGO —(AP)— Ten pounds overweight after a siege of Thanksgiving eating, world heavyweight champion Joe Louis planned to start boxing drills today. The titleholder weighed 210 pounds after a few light gymnasium exercises yesterday.

ARMSTRONG WORKS OUT

HENRY ARMSTRONG

Champion Prepares For Fight With Chavez on Charity Card In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND—Soft-spoken, well-educated, clean-cut and looking like anything but a fighter, Henry Armstrong yesterday demonstrated why he is the featherweight champion of the world.

Arriving here to finish training for his scheduled 10-round fight with Tony Chavez of Mexico in one of the feature bouts on The News Toyshop Fund show at the Arena, Monday, the colored warrior went through his first workout before a packed audience at Bryan Downey's gym.

Vicious in Ring.

Armstrong may be polite outside the squared circle but a more vicious, two-fisted battler the prize ring has probably never seen.

After a two-hour workout, Manager Eddie Mead was forced to issue a call for additional sparring partners. Like Jack Dempsey, Armstrong never pulls his punches.

The sledge-hammer attack possessed by the youthful titleholder is best demonstrated by his record compiled in the last year and a half, a sensational string of 25 knockouts in 26 fights.

The lone exception was Tony Chavez, who won the nod on a foul in the tenth round of their savage encounter in St. Louis. Chavez is Armstrong's opponent Monday.

46 Round on Card.

A total of 46 rounds of boxing has been scheduled, including Lou Ambers, world lightweight champion, against Frankie Wallace in one of the other 10-rounders.

The annual benefit show is being held this year at the new million dollar Arena, 3700 Euclid Ave.

Launch Season This Week-End

Four N. C. O. Teams Open In Non-Loop Games.

One of the largest basketball schedules ever lined up by a North Central Ohio conference quintet will be launched by Shelby Saturday when it invades Norwalk for its inaugural tilt of the season.

The Whippets this year will play 18 games with such clubs as Mansfield, Akron Buchtel and Fostoria listed among its opponents. The outfit will play eight non-conference games.

With the Shelby team opening its season Saturday, three other N. C. O. aggregations will move into action for the first time this year.

Mt. Vernon's Yellow Jackets raise the curtain on their season by entertaining Upper Sandusky at Mt. Vernon on Friday night, while the Bucyrus Redmen meet New Washington at Bucyrus, and the strong Marion Presidents travel to Upper Sandusky for a tilt Saturday night. Ashland and Galion, other members of the N. C. O. do not swing into action until next week.

Hallabrin Named To All-Ohio Team

Mansfield High Star Forms Backfield of Mythical Eleven With Glass, Terleckie and Simonetti; Dials on Second Selection.

By TOMMY DEVINE, United Press Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—From an army of 150,000 scholastic football warriors who started the campaign last September with equal ratings, there emerged today 11 youthful commanders of Ohio's schoolboy gridiron kingdom.

The 11 gridders were elevated to the top rank when they were selected members of the all-state scholastic team selected annually by the Ohio High School Coaches association. The choices were announced by John L. Brickels, New Philadelphia, president of the group.

As a radical departure from the policy followed in the past only seniors were considered for first team births. Another determining factor in the choices was the type of opposition met as judged from the length and kind of schedule played.

Places Five Men.

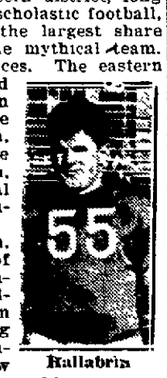
The northeastern district, long a "hot bed" of scholastic football, again grabbed the largest share of places on the mythical team. It took five places. The eastern district placed three men on the team; the northwestern, two; and the southwestern, one. The central district was unrepresented.

Massillon, a claimant of the state championship although beaten and tied during the past campaign; and New Philadelphia, loser of but one contest, were the only schools to place more than one player on the mythical team.



Hallabrin

The Massillon representatives were Don Snavely, at an end; and Bob Glass, at halfback. These two youngsters were the only members of the 1936 team who repeated.

Glass undoubtedly was the outstanding individual ball carrier to perform on an Ohio schoolboy team during the past season. A well-built, 184 pound lad, he possessed both power and elusiveness. He also was a fine punter and a capable passer. On top of his offensive achievements, Glass was a deadly tackler and played at end on defense.

Snavely was on the 1936 team as a center. This year he was shifted to end and demonstrated remarkable versatility. He was a smart, aggressive flankman with keen ability to diagnose opponent plays. In addition he was above the average as a pass receiver.

Win Team Berths.

Leonard Simonetti, at fullback, and David Metzger, at guard, were the New Philadelphia boys chosen.

Simonetti was on the second all-state team a year ago. Weighing 210 pounds, he was a smashing line plunger who was good for yardage against all opponents.

Metzger was a rugged, hard-charging lineman who stood out on a forward wall that gave up only 33 points in 10 games.

Paired with Glass in the backfield were Johnny Hallabrin of Mansfield, and Frank Terlecki of Youngstown Chaney.

Hallabrin was a triple threat star who climaxed a brilliant scholastic career by lifting his team to a ranking position in the state. Bearing the brunt of all offensive maneuvers, Hallabrin averaged six yards for each ball carrying effort; completed 30 out of 73 passes he tossed and averaged almost 40 yards on his punts. He scored 55 of the 126 points his team garnered. Terlecki was a heady field general and a fine blocker.

To team with Snavely at end, Richard Kalisienski of Bellaire was named. He was a fine all-around wingman.

Giants at Tackles.

A pair of young giants were chosen for the tackles. Marvin Snider of Toledo Libbey, scaling 190 pounds, developed rapidly during the past campaign and played his best when the going was tough. He seldom was taken out of a play. His running mate, Jim Brutz of Warren Harding weighed 225 pounds, but was exceptionally fast and alert.

Ralph Fife of Canton McKinley was awarded the guard post opposite Metzger. Fife excelled as a blocker and pulled out of the line to lead plays with rare skill.

Do these symptoms hold you back from overcoming life's hurdles? Don't blame only your years, blame mineral starvation and intestinal putrefaction. Thousands report high blood pressure reduced and accompanying symptoms relieved with the continued use of D. Gonewisch's Garlic Tablets. They supply iron, copper, sulphur, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium, iodine—a combination of vital minerals hard to beat and without which the system cannot function properly. Try these invigorating tablets whenever out of sorts. They give that desired "pick up" without the "let-down" by palliatives and drugs.
D. Gonewisch's Garlic Tablets contain garlic in its pure and most effective form. Delightful chewed or swallowed. No telltale of unpleasant garlic odor or taste. 12 day's supply 37c Economy size (5 weeks) 89c 20% saving coupon in each box. On sale at all Weinberger Drug Stores.

LEADING SHARES EDGE LOWER IN QUIET SESSION

Absence of Buying Interest Sends Prices Down After Higher Opening.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Leading shares edged lower in a quiet stock market session today.

Higher prices ruled at the opening but absence of buying interest permitted a downward drift.

Brokers said there was some tax switching and selling in prosess. Buying on balance from abroad was reported. American stocks were higher in both London and Amsterdam.

A sharp drop in October rail net operating income reflected that month's disappointing carloading figures.

Bonds were mixed. Commodities tended a little higher.

Followers of steel shares were interested in the report of "Iron Age" suggesting the possibility steel operations might have reached their low point of the recession, with a "sidewise" movement due this month and a step-up in January.

Less cheering was a more than seasonal drop in electric power output for the week ended Nov. 27, as disclosed by the Edison Electric institute. For the first time since September, 1934, power production fell behind the comparable figure of the previous year.

60 STUDENTS TO OPERATE STORE FOR TWO DAYS

Senior High Class to Receive Practical Experience at Kobacker's.

Sixty students of the store salesmanship classes at the Senior high school will receive practical experience in selling merchandise Thursday and Friday, when they will take over the operation of Kobacker's department store.

Because of the large number of students in the classes, half the group will work at the store on Thursday, and the other half Friday, John C. Stout, instructor said.

Each day a student will act as store manager, assistant manager and as store stenographer, with the remainder of the group assigned as salespeople in the various departments.

Store officials Thursday will be Samuel Welty, manager, Stuart Meehan, assistant manager, and Doris Marshall, stenographer. Friday Robert Dirlam will be manager, Murray Bullock, assistant manager and Eleanor Bolesky, stenographer.

Students will report at the store in the morning and will work until closing time in the evening. Full school credit will be given for the day's work, Stout said.

They'll Act As Salesmen.

Those who will work at the store on Thursday are Patricia Anderson, William Baker, Elizabeth Baki, Miriam Bauer, Albert Boss, Helen Bricker, John Columbus, Kathryn Craig, Mary Creamer, Mary Dalton, Marjorie Ewing, William Fensch, Wilma Folmer, Virginia Greke, Esther Goettl, William Grandon, Viola Gregoria, Eileen Gimbel, Mabel Hahne, Jack Heck, Mary Holmes, Shirley McFadden, Margaret Sams, Evelyn Schmidt, Frank Swartz, Maxine Zediker and Leota Zellner.

Friday the staff will be Betty Beal, Helen Beer, Marjorie Beidelschies, Marian Blaney, Ruth Bollman, Violet Calhoun, Madge Coleman, James Constance, Rupert Cox, Dorothy Dean, Virginia Derr, Betty Fizher, John Fraifogel, Bernard Hoel, Margaret Jacoby, Helen Koch, Mary Louise Lantz, Ruth Liston, Violet Matthes, Helen Metzger, Mary Miles, Gertrude Morrow, Albert Myers, Annie Olsen, Edward Schuler, Betty Statler and Nadine Stomps.

FATHERS TO BE HOSTS TO SONS

First Presbyterian Men to Hold Dinner at Church Thursday.

The men of the First Presbyterian church will be hosts to their sons at a Father and Son banquet to be held Thursday evening in the church parlors.

Guest speaker at the banquet will be Jesse Beer, principal of Senior high school. His subject will be "What the Church Should Do For Its Young People."

The program and banquet will be in charge of the boys of J. A. Jacot's Sunday school class. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., and will be preceded by contests and games. The annual election of officers will be held during the meeting.

SPEAKS TO CLUB

Wittenberg Professor Addresses Amima Members Saturday.

Dr. E. E. Flack, a professor at Wittenberg college, will be the guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Amima club Saturday noon at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Dr. Flack recently returned from an extensive tour of Europe, and will discuss conditions in some of the European countries, principally Germany. Wives of members have been invited to the meeting. Rev. Charles Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, is program chairman for the meeting.

Was Hardly Able To Bend Over To Pull On Shoes

Back Was Lame, Joints Felt Stiff and Muscles Sore—Bladder Needed a Diuretic and Was Constipated Daily.

Says World's Tonic Straightened Him Out.

"Every time I would do any extra work it made my back lame and then I could hardly stoop over to pull on my shoes," says Mr. George Cornell of 632 Babb St., Massillon, Ohio!

"I sometimes felt dizzy; spots danced before my eyes; my tongue was coated; bad taste in my mouth. And every morning I would wake up with a headache and feeling sore and stiff all over. It took me the best part of the day to get limbered up. I lost weight; my memory became poor; I just felt like an old worn out man.

"Since taking World's Tonic and getting relief from stomach trouble and easing my kidneys, I stoop and bend with ease and never a pain. My joints no longer snap and crack and all the pains have disappeared from my muscles. I haven't had a dizzy spell lately; nerves have calmed down so that I enjoy sound sleep. World's Tonic just straightened me out in great shape."

Every day men and women of the highest integrity tell how World's Tonic has helped them. Those who have suffered and found relief are loud in their praise of this great medicine. World's Tonic is not an old style, nasty medicine to take. It does not contain habit forming drugs or narcotics.

World's Tonic is for sale at CENTRAL DRUG STORE.—Adv. (D88)

LONG WARFARE SEEMS LIKELY IN HOLY LAND

British Efforts to Ferret Out G. H. Q. of Terrorists Meets Resistance.

JERUSALEM —(U.P.)— The type of warfare taking place in the Holy Land—ambushes and guerilla tactis—augers a protacted and painful process of restoration of order by the government.

Arab nationalists are resisting the "encroachment" of Jews and resisting the plan of the mandate authority, Britain, to partition the country between Arabs and Jews. There have been scores of deaths.

The activities of attacking terrorists are believed to be directed from an Arab underground headquarters which the British are unable to discover, much less stamp out. No Arab patriot will betray his kinsmen endeavoring to free their race from the "infidel imperialists." As illustration of this, the reward of $50,000 offered for evidence of the murderers of Lewis Yelland Andrews, British district commissioner of Galilee, still is unclaimed. Also is more than $400,000 in rewards posted by the government from time to time for information on similar crimes committed since last year's revolt.

Press Attack Pointed.

Another indication that the recent outbreak is of serious and prolonged character is seen in the outspoken coment of "Palestine and Transjordan," the only English language Arab weekly, whose editor until recently, Fouad Saba also secretary of the Arab supreme committee, was exiled by Britain to an island in the Indian ocean.

The following passages leave little doubt as to the feelings animating the Arab leaders now directing their people.

"The British government has endeavored with one single stroke of the pen to declare the Arab supreme committee and all national committees and all national committees in Palestine unlawful associations; it assumed control of the finances of the Moslem AWQAF and cut off spokesmen of the Arab population in Palestine in order, as it alleges, to clear the country from its wave of terror, but in fact to silence all opposition to its mischievous policy to divide Palestine . . . a new rebellion against the British in Palestine may be regarded to have started on Oct. 14, 1937."

The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem escaped on Oct. 14 and on this date there were attacks on Jews and British police in many sections of Palestine.

THE STATE vs. ELNA JEPSON

By NANCY BARR MAVITY

(Copyright 1937)

CHAPTER XXVIII

Elna, with tottering steps, was dragged by Jamieson's powerful stride.

"If you want to get rid of that liquor, go behind a tree," Jamieson said.

Soon Elna did just that. Shortly afterwards she felt weak, but clear and entirely sober. She smiled up at the jailer. "Thanks," she said. "I might have sung 'Annie Laurie.' We can walk back a little slower. When I talk my thoughts they are easier to face."

"Go ahead," said Jamieson.

"This morning I won a couple of tricks—they were legal but I know the judge doesn't like tricks. I felt proud as a peacock until I caught the judge's eye. One of the reporters said, 'This is your day.' For a moment I was complimented, and then I thought, yet, perhaps my day, but my only day. There is certain police testimony I have not met, and, unless I think it through on my direct testimony, cannot meet. But I knew that beforehand. It was this last surprise witness, kept from me by a recess, that just made it seem I couldn't try any more."

"And now, being Elna Jepson, you go straight to meet the things you fear." Jamieson had never discussed her case, and he did not do so now.

"It's all right now. It can't be worse than anything before."

The court was settling into place as Elna entered. The judge cast her a sharp glance, apparently decided that her illness had been no trick.

Daniels was on his feet. "The final witness for the prosecution is Mr. Roger Ainsworth."

* * *

Elna's head whirled Roger had planned this trick at the last. Love did not enter into it but something greater—honor, loyalty instead of treachery. The jury nudged elbows, calling attention to the flaming glory, the triumph of her face. They had never seen her like that before.

It was not until Roger had taken the witness chair that Elna realized he was a witness for the prosecution.

"This is a painful situation for you, I know," Daniels began sympathetically. "But my questions are few. You were attorney for the Jepson family?"

"My father was attorney for Mr. Oscar Jepson After that, I attended to a few matters of his estate."

"Did you know Miss Jepson?"

"Very slightly, in the way of consultation on business."

Every answer fell with cool assurance Elna forced herself to look at him. His face was thinner, paler, emphasizing the hawk-like nose. The eyes were brilliant, watchful as ever. He was on guard, to save himself at her expense. She looked again. This face was the face of a stranger.

"You never visited Miss Jepson?"

"Not that I remember, certainly. I might have called once or twice with my wife. She knew her better."

"So that it did not occur to you, merely because you formerly represented the Jepson family, to associate yourself with this case?"

"To defend the woman accused of killing my wife? Never!" Roger's hands clenched the arms of his chair, he leaned tensely forward. His eyes blazed for a moment, then he slipped back in his chair, covering his face with his handkerchief.

* * *

Daniels waited for the full courtroom effect. Only the judge smiled, and covered the smile. He had utmost respect for Ainsworth's knowledge of the law, but he had also heard of his histrionics. Then he made an odd connection That was why he had disliked Elna's "tricks"—they were Ainsworth tricks. He glanced down at Elna. Her face, above the little red collar, was expressionless. The judge, who had seen many faces, recognized the signs of shock. There was more than met the eye in all this, he astutely decided

"That is all," Daniels said gently. "Take the witness"

McClung fidgeted, waiting for his usually jotted notes for cross-examination. But Elna's hands were clasped loosely in her lap. Her thoughts raced at airplane speed. By putting himself on the witness stand, Roger was in her hands. She could tell the whole story, and be believed.

Only Roger did not want the truth His dishonor did not absolve her from honor. She had given her word. She was unconscious of any save those two as she rose to her feet She must tell him that she must still save him, not for his sake, but for the sake of her word.

"Elna Jepson has no cross-examination for Roger Ainsworth." Unconsciously her hand moved across her white forehead.

McClung hastily echoed "No cross" after her, but the judge merely waved her down He could not reprimand a face like that.

Daniels arose. That scene must not be left with the jury at recess. "I find we have a few more witnesses."

"Put them on. We have lost enough time already." Judge Ashton's tone was cross.

* * *

Three or four accumulative police witnesses had been hastily gathered by the assistant. "You may take these," Daniels said, and hastened out to his own office. "Damn bounder!" he addressed himself in the mirror. "Here we thought Ainsworth had nothing to do with it, and he'd forestall any triangle story by Jepson. There's not the slightest proof of a third person—except the look on that girl's face. No jury in the world will forget that look. And when she rose up like Joan of Arc and let him off—let him off, mind you, as if it all lay in her hands! What a girl! She beat Ainsworth at his own game"

Daniels scratched his chin a moment. "Her story is hooey, and the police evidence will knock her into conviction. But it's just that she doesn't choose the truth. By God, we're trying to send a girl to death when we don't know the truth ourselves."

Daniels soothed himself with the thought of the police. He slipped back into the courtroom, where he belonged. The judge was gazing at the defendant attentively. He saw the downcast face of doubt, her final upturned chin of decision. Because he had known many men, Judge Ashton's lips formed silently the word, "Wait."

Elna paid no attention to the testimony. It was five minutes to twelve. Five minutes to recess, to think. She could make all unnecessary lies a large lie which would be an admission of her own guilt, and make it no longer a farce She could plead guilty. Then there would be no temptation to betray Roger because he had lied against her for his own sake. She knew that temptation would return. But she never could forget letting her honor fall against his ingenuity. Let him have his victory.

The judge saw her half rise from her chair, while he hastily scribbled a note. He glanced at the courtroom clock before him. Three minutes until recess. She would never last.

"The court will now take a recess until two o'clock," Judge Ashton intoned "The defendant appears to be ill. If she requires a doctor or is not recovered by that time, an extension of time will be granted."

* * *

As he descended the stairs he slipped the note to the court clerk, with a turned eye, and walked very slowly to his chambers locking the door behind him 'They'll never call me the judge without an error again, and what does it matter?" he murmured. "There's something beyond justice that is hurting that girl."

The long recess brought a new Elna Jepson to the courtroom. Judge Ashton knew then that she would never break.

She had found her father's weakness—his unconscious power to lay his ideas on others. The girls in the jail, the jailer and the guard, even her mistakes with the reporters and the cameramen, who had to make their deadlines or suffer for it, had taught her many kinds of lives. Yet, with that look, not of victory but of firm determination in her face she could not resist her little smile at the surprise in store for the prosecution

The prosecution noticed that smile and was disturbed. Daniels had found the defendant worth watching, and usually disturbing.

Elna had arranged with McClung that she would be the only witness in her behalf. "That leaves it all to you?" The solemnity of McClung's question showed that he had no idea the case had been left to Elna all along. Elna had no heart to smile. After all, he had won many cases. It was not his fault that in this one he had a wildcat taught by Roger Ainsworth, and using his methods, if not posessing his knowledge.

* * *

Elna had stayed so long in her conference at recess that she had time to scribble only two notes to McClung After all she was frightened McClung must not know that.

"Your honor, the defense calls only one witness—Miss Elna Jepson. Miss Jepson!"

Elna's hand shook as she held it aloft to the old oath. "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, so help me God" The words had been meaningless by mumbling. They seemed to shot at her.

"So help me God—and I need it," she answered.

Judge Ashton leaned across the bench and asked if the defendant were able to testify.

"I am ready for anything," she answered quietly, just as a wild commotion rose at the front court door

"I've got it!" Curtis Graham was yelling his way through the crowd, a battered box firmly clutched under his arm.

The bailiff stretched a sturdy arm across the doorway. "You can't get through," he announced in his most official voice. "The courtroom's full. A little disturbance—just a moment, your honor," he flung over his shoulder.

* * *

That turn gave Curtis his chance. He smashed the bailiff effectively on the nose, and the door was an unguarded entrance. But though Curtis knew nothing of court-room etiquette, he felt that he had somehow violated it. He offered the bailiff a handkerchief and explained, "But I got to get in!"

"I heard that the first time. What's your excitement, anyway?"

"I love her, you see. I just got in town today and she'll think I deserted her. And I grabbed a paper that called that kid an 'Enigma Woman,' and I've got to get in, don't you see?"

Elna most of all would have been astonished by Curtis' histrionics.

"Why didn't you say it was a love affair instead of a prize fight in the first place? Go on, buddy, and remember if I don't cry on the judge's shoulder, the sheriff is likely to throw me off this job."

By this time Curtis was again demonstrating his ignorance of curt rules as contrasted with his motto that he usually arrived where he wanted to go. "Thank God, in time!" was his only thought. He honestly did not hear the thud of gavels and some old man repeating "Order in the court." He had leaped the stairs to the witness chair before the turmoil subsided.

"I've got here—and I've got it."

"But, Curtis, dear, you can't do this. It's contempt of court and goodness knows what else. You musn't!"

"I came to give you your red hat before it was too late."

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion. Sold everywhere. (c) Bell & Co. 1937.

Need for Civic Auditorium.

SUCH entertainment as was provided Monday evening in presentation of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, as the opening number of the Mansfield Civic Music association's series for this season, brings forcibly to mind this city's need for a suitable public auditorium, with adequate stage facilities and sufficient seating capacity to accommodate steadily increasing audiences.

While the Senior high school auditorium serves admirably on many occasions Mansfield has definite requirement for a more commodious public building which could be made to serve a variety of community needs.

The Civic Music association performs a commendable service to Mansfield, and to the entire north central Ohio area, in bringing to this city the high class entertainment which its winter series provides.

It may well be hoped that the earnestness and enthusiasm which members of this organization carry into their task will serve as inspiration for an idea that will carry through to realization of a dream that Mansfield is to have an attractive civic auditorium, designed to meet present needs and also in preparation for future progress.

British Debt Settlement.

NEWS that Great Britain is preparing to renew payments on her war debt seems almost too good to be true. Yet it is what a reasonable nation or a reasonable government would do, in the present state of the world.

Britain is struggling to hold her vast, rich empire together, while armed neighbors are plotting to tear it apart for their own benefit. So Britain, perhaps more than at any time since Napoleon, needs friends. France is almost a broken reed. Japan, her former ally, is leagued with Germany and Italy. America, potentially the most powerful nation on earth, and closest in blood, language and institutions, may be of more service to Britain than ever before. That debt stands in the way.

If London reports are authentic, the British government is prepared to settle on terms that would virtually waive all interest, past and future, and pay about $50,000,000 a year for 50 years.

It would be considerably better than nothing. And other debtors might come across on the same terms. All the British people can expect is our good will and our appreciation of the fact that the United States and the British Empire have great mutual interests.

Accumulating and Distributing Wealth.

GROWING realization that wealth is a trust, intended for use in contributing to general well-being, throws an interesting sidelight on what the not-distant future may become if the art of giving continues to progress, as is forecast by Howard J. Wisehaupt, nationally known business analyst who is in Mansfield for a series of lectures.

It has long been recognized that some men are peculiarly gifted in the acquisition of wealth while others, equally industrious, are lacking in the attributes required to accumulate any considerable surplus of money or property.

Among the best remembered names in the United States, and in each community, are those which are associated with some lasting benefit which came as a contribution from the surplus wealth of an individual conscious of a responsibility to others.

The name of John D. Rockefeller, for example, attains a permanent place in history as a result of large contributions for advancement of the general welfare—while the mere accumulation of wealth greatly in excess of his own needs could have served only to stigmatize the name.

In every community there are those who prosper beyond the ordinary in accumulation of wealth, and in practically every city there are lasting memorials of various kinds which continue, through later generations as testimonials to the philanthropy and public spiritedness of men or women who have viewed their wealth as a trust and who have sought means of using a portion of it to help others.

While the profit motive is essential to accumulation of wealth it is apparently becoming more obvious that intelligent distribution of surplus wealth provides even larger dividends in happiness and contentment.

Unlicensed Whisky-Selling.

FURTHER REFLECTION on the once respected word, "restaurant," is seen in the incident of a Mansfield "restaurant" proprietor pleading guilty to the charge of selling liquor without a license.

Mansfield has been familiar with instances of holders of beer licenses using these as a blind for the sale of hard liquor, and of the sale of liquor to minors, but this idea of a so-called "restaurant," without either a beer or liquor permit, selling whisky in such a brazen way as was apparently done in this case, savors strongly of the bootlegging practices in vogue during the prohibition period.

Unless some way is found to restore the word, "restaurant," to the meaning it was intended to have, it may soon be necessary to evolve a new designation for eating places.

The Chinese people are said to be "naturally democratic." Natural democrats are people that never agree about public policies.

Having given national thanks that things are no worse, it's time now for a concerted effort to make them better.

John L. Lewis says capital and labor must co-operate for prosperity—just like one and one make two.

The Toledo Blade marvels that there appears never to be a strike in a slot machine factory.

"IS IT LETTING UP ANY?"

Quick 'Justice' In Southwest Train Holdup

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Except for the unfortunate killing of Brakeman W. L. Smith, the recent attempted stick-up of a railroad train near the New Mexico-Arizona line had about as gratifying an outcome as the average law-abiding citizen could have provided for if he had been permitted to arrange, in advance, the whole program.

I know three or four G-men.

G-men, generally speaking, prefer not to have the victims of an inter-state outrage administer their own on-the-spot justice. As G-men, they like to see the miscreants temporarily get away with their dirty work only to be run down ultimately by the G-outfit, which thus gets a lot of credit and advertising for its efficiency.

Nevertheless, my G-acquaintances have to admit that that New Mexico-Arizona affair was a fine triumph for law-and-order.

* * *

ROBIN HOOD STUFF.

There is something romantic about a successful train hold-up.

Even though the desperadoes may be cornered after a long chase and perish in a furious gun-fight, they have had a run for their money. For example, Jesse James and the Youngers were extinguished finally, but they go down in history as a certain sort of Robin Hood heroes.

That's what enrages the G-men and prosecutors— the semi-glorification of outlawry.

* * *

UNDIGNIFIED.

However, there is nothing glorious to a bandit in having the tar whaled out of him by his intended victim, to be captured by the latter, to have his plunder repossessed from him, and then to be turned over to the nearest sheriff, so dilapidated that he has to be hospitalized before answering criminal charges.

Such a career is not calculated to win him many imitators.

And such was the fate of those two New Mexico-Arizona would-be train robbers.

They didn't so much as put up a formidable scrap. Brakeman Smith was killed, but it was by an accidental shot. The chief robber wasn't punctured by a bullet. He had his feet kicked from under him by a colored passenger. After which the other infuriated passengers and the trainmen licked the two to a pulp and surrendered them — and mighty thankful to be surrendered—to the local police at the next station.

From an outlaw-rish standpoint, it distinctly was undignified.

Certainly there is nothing in it to inspire imitation.

* * *

ENCOURAGEMENT.

I have my own notion that our civilized community's tendency to discourage the possession of firearms is an encouragement to armed criminality.

In my youth it was assumed that every head of a family would keep a gun. To carry one, concealed, was prohibited. But it was not a strictly observed rule. As a western newspaper reporter, when I was 20 or thereabouts, I have had the chief of police, say casually, "Hey, Charley, your pistol shows." Whereupon, I adjusted my coat over it.

"No guns," is a regulation which peaceful citizens have respected.

It's a regulation which never influenced an outlaw.

Nice folk have been disarmed. Thugs, not a bit of it.

* * *

CONSTITUTIONAL.

One of the best discouragements of outlawry in the U. S. A. has been a No. 10 repeating shotgun in our best citizenry's hands.

Says the U. S. Constitution:

"...the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed."

If it hadn't been infringed, against good citizens, I doubt that it would have been infringed by bad ones. If the hold-ups on that New Mexico-Arizona train hadn't infringed it. I surmise that they'd have been licked, as they were, without killing a brakeman.

"He Was Such a Swell Guy!"

SUDDENLY everything seemed changed.

There were no words in ten-year-old vocabularies to describe that change . . . no understanding in ten-year-old hearts whereby they might meet and manage it But the terror of it lay plain on small, tear-stained faces . . . wide, questioning eyes.

Grandad gone!

BUT WHERE? AND WHY?

Who could want to take Grandad away . . . Grandad, who'd always been so ready with a laugh or a joke, a bit of string or a fish hook for a small adventurer? Didn't God know how important Grandad was . . . how empty the world was without him?

Older folk were going around on tiptoe . . . whispering, crying, leaving flowers, making a fuss. Kids couldn't make a fuss like that . . . couldn't tell what he'd meant —how they felt. Only—small hands fumbled, little voices broke.

"He was such a swell guy!" they whispered — giving him all they had.

"Such a swell guy!" . . . Last week, in Beverly Hills, they buried Polly's dad. Laid him away gently, wrapt in flowers and tears. No muffled drums or bugled "taps" . . . no screaming "extrays" and front page "obits." Merely the simple funeral of a common working man . . . Only the sobbing tribute of two little lads he'd loved—but that was enough!

"SUCH A SWELL GUY!"

Millions could not buy, power could not enforce, fame could not bestow, a greater memorial than that. The angels in heaven, itself, do not wear a more glorious crown!

"SUCH A SWELL GUY!"

Every hour they pass — those "plain folk" the world never knew. Plodding fathers, patient mothers. Weary, workworn drudges with bowed shoulders and calloused hands. Day and night, year after year, those shoulders have carried the same burden . . . those hands have gripped the same chore. Such monotonous, poorly paid chores.

The "Swell Guys" of the world!

No spotlights for them. No medals or hurrahs.

But, oh, what an emptiness when they go on!

What a desperate longing to touch that dear scarred hand again . . . find strength in its courage and comfort in its tenderness. What an agony of loneliness for that gentle, understanding smile.

The Dads and the Moms who never made the front page—

Yet who carried the whole world on their loyal backs, in their loving hearts.

Who never, perhaps, said a brilliant thing—

But never, either, did an unkind or shameful thing.

We took them so for granted when they were here—

But, God, how we miss them now!

"SWELL GUYS!"

Dear Father — In your happy paradise, grant them the fun and freedom that, on earth, they never knew. A rocking chair, without a darning bag, for Mom. A fishing trip and friendly pipe for Dad. And tell them, please, the things we didn't say . . . and give them, now, the thanks we didn't give.

And if they're lonely, put your dear, scarred hands on theirs. They too, God, bore the cross that we might live!

Near Record Crop Year.

According to the U. S. department of agriculture, farm production for this year will be very close to an all-time peak, failing to equal by only an estimated 6 per cent the record year of 1920.

While not a single major crop established a new record, the total is of near-record proportions. Cotton production was approximately 17,573,000 bales, corn approximately 2,561,000,000 bushels and approximately $86,895,000 bushels. Bumper crops of rye, rice, peanuts, apples, peaches, grapes, pecans, potatoes and sugar beets were produced.

It is significant that the near-record year came at a time when government control and tinkering was at a comparative minimum when considered with the years in which the A. A. A. program was in its hey-dey.

Nature's bounty was destroyed in a year in which agriculturists went more or less their own way, taking advantage of natural conditions, allowing the earth to bring forth its increase after its own fashion.—Columbus Dispatch.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

GIVING AND RECEIVING: Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.—Luke 6:38.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL—

American Medical System Held Archaic.

TO THOSE of moderate circumstances who have had illness in their family there comes a belief that the American medical system is archaic and needlessly ineffective. Many persons have expressed this thought to me, and I agree. I agree, even though my family has a physician or two within it, and even though I know the financial difficulties of hospitals.

American industry has gone ahead by leaps and bounds, social evolution has given many new benefits, but the medical world remains in a past century, largely because of a fear that its livelihood and independence will be endangered.

Physicians compain to me of their own increasing difficulties, of their large amount of free work. But they do not seem to realize that those difficulties will increase, not decrease, unless the medical profession joins with the government (and society in general) in making medicine a public institution, for the benefit of the entire race. Professional men shy at that as "socialism" or "communism"—but the fact remains that even a capitalist nation must somehow bring medicine into coordination with all other developments, else industrial development itself will suffer too great a handicap to proceed.

* * *

AN INDUSTRIAL NECESSITY

As one who has been connected with industrial plants the larger part of his life, I believe that governmental medicine will become a necessity. Even if we cast aside all the social responsibilities of government and industry (which, of course, cannot be cast aside), the well-being of the race remains as necessary as raw resources, industrial plants, armaments and wealth. Unless the well-being of its people is a major consideration a nation becomes second-rate, then third-rate, then is overrun, conquered.

It seems a criminal waste that, because of poverty, much of our population not only cannot save itself from ills, but death. Think of the waste, not only in human life, but in the loss to industry and to government! We have millions of dependents who did not have to be.

Governmental control of medicine will have to be a far broader undertaking than the mere giving of free treatment and prescriptions, which the physicians seem to fear as "intrusion into their profession" — i. e., eliminating some fees Governmental control will have to begin at the very bottom, through home, factory, office, educating people to be healthy, and co-ordinating factory practices with the best interests of health.

One can hear the roars of "Socialism!" "Communism!" over that. Yet—educating people to become healthy, and giving them an opportunity at reasonable costs to become healthy, will develop an entire new source of clientele for the physicians; thorough medical treatment then will not be for the few, but for the many. And even the few, who die early despite their wealth because they drive themselves, may learn how to live. As for the second suggestion, coordinating factory practices with the best interests of health—that will be termed by many employers as "more government intrusion." As a man who has had a great deal to do with factories, I should welcome any proposal that would improve the human element. It might double production.

* * *

COSTS

Medicine as it is today is a severe burden on the people. Those least able to bear it must bear it most, for poverty breeds illness.

The person of poor circumstances may have a friendly physician who will wait for his money (and ofttimes does not get it—something that would not occur under governmental supervision), but then there is the hosuital.

Hospitals cost money to operate. Under our present higgledy-piggledy system they cost a great deal more than if they were under one general supervision. They must get this money back to exist. As a result, many a person is deterred from taking a needed stop to build his health or save his life.

It is a wretched condition. It is a disgrace to such a great country.

And foolish legislatures and governors even add to that disgrace. In the state in which I live there is a tax on medicine. I have seen a person pay as high as 60 cents tax on one prescription. I believe that such inhuman torture of the poverty-stricken ill is unconstitutional; but even if it is not, it is morally and socially unjustifiable.

Is it any wonder that many people give up hope when they become ill?

Discussing the Problem of Dogs.

WASHINGTON—Pressure groups are operating on the brand new town of Greenbelt to compel the place to accept dogs as resident citizens.

Faced with the issue, Greenbelt courageously said: "no dogs."

Greenbelt, it should be understood, is the $16,000,000 town 12 miles out from Washington which Rex Tugwell started to provide better shelter for the under-privileged at prices which would leave them enough after the rent is paid so they would not be so underprivileged.

Perhaps there is no way of knowing which city has the most dogs per square yard of sidewalk, but we are willing to pit Washington against any. At any hour of the day it is possible to see at least one dog, leash and man attached, poking along the hedges and monuments.

* * *

Our Own Benny.

PERSONALLY we are not opposed to dogs. As a boy we "grew up with a dog," as the dog magazines say a boy should, and on cold nights our Benny would nuzzle his way between the blankets and poke his icy nose friendly like, against our foot.

But Benny was a country dog and had country to roam in. By law, Washington dogs may not roam. They must be handled mostly on leash, and on leash they are led along paths, sidewalks and through parks for their morning and evening strolls.

Greenbelt, however, decided tentatively that, with so many children as the 800 low-income families of the community might have, it would not be safe to have bands of dogs roaming around.

* * *

Dogs or No Dogs.

BUT the issue of dogs or no dogs is not finally settled. Greenbelt has just completed its first municipal election, in which it chose a council of five who in turn will select a town manager. The town may have a plebiscite on dogs or, perhaps, leave it up to a vote of the council.

Days before the election, however, groups within the community as well as without were pleading that no town should grow up without dogs. Dog lovers told harrowing tales of the minimum-income-type - two - three - bedroom - no - garage family forced to leave good old Towser stranded in Washington at 1438 New Jersey avenue, Southeast, because he could not be taken to Greenbelt.

Pictures of sad-eyed, flop-eared pooches were printed in the papers under such titles as "underprivileged."

Not a tear dropped from our brazen eye. Too well we and the neighbors remembered our home across the street from a leading Washington hotel. This hotel chap-erones more dogs than daughters. By 6:30 of a tired morning they are out in squads and platoons, yapping and woofing at each other. At nightfall as our tired neighborhood wends homeward its weary way, the walks are laced and criss-crossed with dogs on leashes puffing and wheezing from parlor ailments.

Perhaps it is no wonder the newly-installed residents of dogless Greenbelt call the community "Utopia."

A New Golden Rule

I THANK David Seabury for writing "The Art of Selfishness."

I thank him for educating me a little—and I hope his wisdom sticks.

I thank him, in particular, for reminding me of something I should have known without his help.

I am grateful to him for letting me see that the Golden Rule as we sometimes interpret it can be brass or base lead and evil thing.

We all know the words of the Golden Rule. We can say it glibly: "Do ye unto others as ye would that others would do unto you."

And yet there are times when men use that rule as a harsh weapon against those they love.

It is a lovely command, but we mininterpret it. We forget that if the other fellow is unlike us, it may be cruelty to treat him as we would like to be treated. . . . Let us suppose that I am a tough individual who can take it and who loves a rough and tumble encounter. My friend is a sensitive person of great ability, but unfitted for fierce combat. I do unto him as I would be done by and break his heart. . . . So the Golden Rule means that I should do unto him as I would wish to be done by—IF I WERE HE.

David Seabury tells of a man named Jasper Judson who had fought his way up to wealth and security. He had worked since he was 12, had never played. He had a son who was a dreaming young musical genius, and he tried to force his son into business, worked him hard and drove him with a lash. So the son "went bad", ran away, ran wild; but finally settled down to his own musical, artistic, creative line.

And Jasper Judson, the father, who thought his son should be exactly like himself, was bitter and resentful until David Seabury convinced him that he had used the Golden Rule selfishly and egotistically.

Mr. Seabury calls his interpretation the New Golden Rule, but it is not that. It is only the wise and true use of this great instrument of happiness. . . . I need it—and YOU may need it, too.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

O. O. McIntyre

THE great mansions along Fifth and Park avenues' fabled Gold Coast have what they call "servants' halls" instead of the more lowly term of employees' quarters. Indeed, a number are almost baronical in their appointments, even to roof patios with fountains.

In big residences the servants' hall is almost a separate establishment. Aside from sunny individual rooms, there is a rest room with comfortable divans and chairs. And there is a library and music room where the radio and late phonograph records may be heard.

All is made so pleasant that many of the servants do not care to leave, even on their evenings off. There is one imposing castle north of the 90's on Park that not only has its own dining room but also separate cook and waitresses who serve the help.

With the growing reluctance of many to enter domestic service, new homes are making especial gestures toward servant comfort. There is very little in the way of living ease denied. Indeed as things are, such servants have fewer worries than employers.

Adolphe Menjou surprised his New York friends recently by his physical appearance. For a time he looked as though he might be playing hookey from a graveyard. As the result of a stomach malady he had become shriveled, sallow and wan. So much so that only the art of makeup made it possible for him to be screened. About a year ago he underwent an abdominal operation which was successful. Since he has taken on 30 pounds in weight, the bloom has returned to his cheeks, his eyes are bright and sparkling and his step has the dash of the cavalier roles he so often portrays. For several years he lived on bran, graham crackers and sips of tepid water. Today he can tear into a five-inch steak with trimmings and do right well by it.

Gertrude Lawrence is one of the "hello everybody" girls of the cafes, too. When she enters a place strangers are likely to get a warm greeting, for she takes no chances on an astigmatism causing offense. Without glasses most faces a few steps away are a bit blurry, so she bows to all. Fifi Widener Wichfeld is another completely lost without her lorgnette. Unless she has it in use she can walk into a room filled with friends and not recognize a soul. A most democratic lady, for years she was, until her affliction became known, regarded as a snob. The captivating Betty Starbuck is one of the blind-without-glasses girls who has had to do a lot of explaining to keep some of her friends she passed without even a glance of recognition. But perhaps the worst victim of all is Libby Holman. She, incidentally, was first, according to an optical journal, to wear glasses that fitted over the eyeballs.

I've frequently wondered what Manhattan maid is the greatest head-turner when entering a cafe. As a rule it is the one most publicized. For a long time Peggy Joyce —and where is she now?—stopped the buzzing and pivoted everybody in chairs when she swept in. Libby Holman, too, had her day. But of late Elsa Maxwell appears to be the top head-turner. She is easily recognized because of her bouncing figure and gait and the fact that she never indulges formal evening dress. Incidentally, Miss Maxwell has added lustre to her versatility in a writing role. Editors say her biography in Harper's Bazaar is the wittiest scribbling effort of our time.

Walter Chrysler's son-in-law, Byron Foy, only a few years removed from the Texas farm, has become one of the town's polished men of affairs. Those who know say that although he worked for his wife's father he started from scratch—and has been entirely on his own, winning a top post solely by hard work and good judgment. And in white tie and tails in the boxes at the Horse Show and Metropolitan, he suggests one of Noel Coward's super-sophisticates.

One of the friendly idiots who sneak up behind a fellow, tweak his leg and then bark like a dog was loose near Grand Central today and worked out on me. I tried to laugh it off in the upper register, ha, ha, but I had to go to a phone booth and phone the house to see what they sent me out for.

A WINTER TIP

B-r-r-r-r—it's nippy out this morning so why not close the doors while the engine warms up? Only takes a few minutes, you know. But in that time much can happen. For instance, carbon monoxide may sneak up and lay you low. About 600 people lose their lives from inhaling carbon monoxide each year. Most cases occur in the family garage when the engine is running and doors and windows are closed. Sure, it's a dumb stunt, but people still do it. Auto gas is deadly and strikes without warning. Don't forget that.

HOLDS ELECTION CERTIFICATES OF 23 WINNERS

Election Board Says Number Failed to File Campaign Expense Accounts.

Twenty-three persons elected to township offices in Richland county Nov. 2 have neglected to file campaign expense reports and will not be eligible to take office Jan. 1 unless they file, Walter Underwood, deputy clerk of the election board, said today.

Certificates of election went out today to the other 226 successful candidates who must forward the certificates to the governor's office for approval before they are officially elected. Certificates of the other 23 will be withheld until the reports are turned in.

Due Two Weeks Ago.

The expense reports, which were due more than two weeks ago, are for the records of the county board of elections. They must be filed even by candidates who spent nothing on their campaigns, Underwood said.

The missing reports are due chiefly from township trustees and board of education members. All successful candidates in Mansfield and Shelby and most of the villages have submitted reports, Underwood reported.

WEIGHS CHARGE

Prosecutor Told PWA Orders Were 'Short Weighted.'

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Franklin County Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett has disclosed that charges of "short weight" in materials delivered on several Public Works administration projects in Columbus and in coal delivered on relief orders were contained in affidavits filed with him.

L. A. Boulay, director of PWA in Ohio, said he did not know what the charges would involve unless it would be short weight in materials delivered to the contractor.

"I don't think they are buying material direct," he said. "The PWA is not paying for material delivered that is short in weight."

EAR HELD CLUE

Victim Leaves Tell-Tale Mark On Robber Suspect.

EL PASO, Tex.—(INS)—Salvador Gonzales stood indicted today because he had only half an ear when arrested.

It began when Frankie Hart received 35 pesos for participation in a wrestling watch in Juarez, Mexico. Returning home a group of men clubbed and robbed him of the money, about $10.00, but during the melee Hart managed to bite part of one man's ear off.

MALADY KILLS CALIFORNIA DEER

Plant Poisoning Fatal to Scores Of Animals.

PASADENA, Calif.—(INS)—A mysterious malady is killing deer by the score in the foothill area of the Angeles National Forest, foresters and biological experts revealed as they sought to trace the cause.

Dr. Edward L. Vail, disease investigator for the Biological Survey, called in by the rangers, advanced the theory that the deer are dying of plant poisoning, probably the result of unusual growths induced by the wet winter.

Stomachs of several of 40 deer found dead in the last few days have been sent to state laboratories at San Francisco for analysis.

REVIEW TRAVEL BOOK, PLAN YEAR'S PROGRAM

Tuesday Club Hears Report of Novel, Diary—Members of Child Study Group Consider Fingerprinting.

AS TWO study groups met yesterday discussions varying from the diary of an Oriental writer in Europe to plans to have children fingerprinted were under way. Members of the Tuesday Book club heard their usual reviews of current literature, while the recently organized Child Study club outlined a program for the coming year.

Miss Hazel Underwood was hostess to members of the Tuesday Book club when the organization met at the Women's Club. Following the usual business meeting the 20 members who were present heard Mrs. J. R. Hodgson review "Children of Strangers" by Lyle Saxon.

This book, though fictional, presents vivid life scenes of the mulatto in Louisiana. It is descriptive of the problems met and faced by those who belong to neither the white nor the Negro race.

Mrs. Herbert Rusk then reviewed "Japanese Lady In Europe" by Haruko Ichikawa. This is a travel book written along the lines of a woman's diary. The husband of the writer, who is a professor in a Tokio university, is on a world tour which he has been awarded through a scholarship. The writer, his wife, who accompanies him, writes brilliant pieces about life on the continent.

Mrs. Palmer Pours.

The tea table was decorated with large white chrysanthemums and matching candles as Mrs. Jay Palmer and Miss Emily Brown poured. The club will next meet with Mrs. J. Rexford Small, 67 Glenwood boulevard, as hostess The meeting is scheduled for Dec. 14.

"Memories Begin With Christmas" was the title of an article and "Learning to Be Unselfish" was the reading presented by members of the Child Study club last night when 14 members met at the home of Mrs. Theodore Banks, 561 West Third street.

During the business meeting it was decided that members would have their children fingerprinted and have the records filed with the city police department. Plans were also made to give clothing and toys to children at the Friendly House at Christmas. Mrs. Allen Ports presided in the absence of Mrs Russell Kohler, president.

Outline Program.

Following a discussion of the program for the coming year outlined in "Parents Magazine," the organization agreed to follow this plan for its meetings. Topics will include etiquette, movies, jealousy, building vocabularies, behavior, intelligence tests, maternal recreation, mental hygiene and sex education

For the next meeting, Dec. 28, Mrs. Banks and Mrs. Robert McCaffrey will present the subjects, "Can Mother Find Time for Fun?" and "Movie Values for Boys and Girls." Mrs James Brown, 385 West Third street, will be hostess.

Ruth Circle Has Election; Name Mrs. Wolfgang

Members of the Ruth Circle class of the First Christian church met yesterday at the home of Mrs. William Birmelin, Newman street, with Mrs. John McPhern and Mrs. Clinton Berry associate hostesses. There were 18 members and two guests, Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger and Miss Elinor Downs.

The newly elected class teachers named at the meeting are Mrs. Stanley Butcher and Mrs. Lois Anson. Mrs. D. B. Wolfgang was elected president.

Other officers are: Mrs. Carl Laubscher, vice president; Mrs. Birmelin, secretary; Mrs. Charles Beer, assistant secretary; Mrs. Earl Penny, treasurer; Mrs. George Brooker, associate treasurer.

Mrs. Penny led the devotions for the meeting. Prizes in the contests were awarded to Mrs. Hagelbarger, Mrs. Buchter, Mrs. Wolfgang, and Mrs. Brooker.

Sorority Plans Christmas Basket

Plans for a rummage sale were discussed last night at the meeting of Beta Kappa Tau in the Larwell room of the Public library. Miss Thelma Dickson, president, was in charge.

Those appointed to the sale committee are the Misses Esther Thrush, Ruth Schuck, and Margaret Moorhead. In charge of the Christmas basket which will be presented to a needy family are the misses Joan Stout, Wilma Sauder, Ruth Bollman, Marceille Cline.

The next meeting will be Dec. 14 in the Larwell room. There will be a social meeting and a Christmas party Dec. 21 at the home of Miss Bollman, 126 Newman avenue, with Miss Cline assisting.

Recent Marriage Announced Here Late Yesterday

Miss Helen Reiter Wed To Richard McGinty Thanksgiving.

Announcement was made late yesterday of the marriage of Miss Helen Reiter, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Reiter, 57 East Second street, to Richard McGinty, son of Robert McGinty, 308 Bowman street. The service was read by Rev. David N Roller, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, at the church Thanksgiving morning at 11:30 o'clock.

For the ceremony the bride was attired in a nile green street length dress with dark green and gold accessories. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Stanley Marietta, who served as matron of honor, wore a dark green frock with matching accessories. Her corsage was of American Beauty roses and red baby chrysanthemums. Mr. Marietta was the bridegroom's attendant.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. McGinty. A three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom decorated the table.

Mrs. McGinty is a graduate of Mansfield High school and Mr. McGinty is employed at a Mansfield sheet tin company. The couple are at home on Sunset boulevard.

Past Presidents Guests At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Soladey were host and hostess last night at their new home on Springmill road to members and the families of the Past President's club. The 25 guests were served a covered dish dinner buffet style

Five Friends Entertain At Shower For Miss Flowers

MISS MARY FLOWERS, who will become the bride of Jack McKnight, Sunday, was honored again last night with a miscellaneous shower at the home of Miss Eileen Logan, 543 South Main street Hostesses, besides Miss Logan, were the Misses Betty Hammel, Beverly Schweim, Jane Cunningham, and Jane Sowash

Bridge was played during the evening with prizes being awarded to Miss Flowers and Mrs. William Terry.

Amid decorations of white chrysanthemums the guests were seated at a table centered by a small garden showing a miniature bridal party within. This garden represented one which Miss Flowers had seen at Williamsburg on an eastern trip this summer. The gateway was labeled "Gov. McKnight's Garden" At the four corners of this centerpiece were white candles.

Marking the place of the bride-to-be was a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums and pink bavardia and a map which she had used on a trip to Washington. At all the points she had visited were attached verses directing her to the gifts which she found hid throughout the house in traveling bags. The hostesses presented Miss Flowers with a white leather covered card table and matching chairs.

Sub-Deb Club Members Hear Talk on Cosmetics

CHRISTMAS CHARITIES OUTLINED BY SORORIS

Club Plans Gifts to Two Institutions, News-Journal Community Program—Hears Talk, Play Read.

CHRISTMAS charities occupied the greater part of the business meeting of the Sorosis club meeting last night when Mrs. S. D. Hoover was hostess at the Women's Club. It was voted to send two magazine subscriptions to the girls at the Industrial school at Delaware for Christmas.

In addition the membership agreed to provide toys for the children at the Friendly House and to donate canned fruits and vegetables to the Community Christmas program being sponsored by The News-Journal. Mrs. John Angle, president, conducted the meeting.

Miss Bertha Patterson opened the program with her talk, "Mexico Old—Mexico New." She spoke on the customs, history, religion and social life of the country from the time of its settlement down to the present day. She indicated that the new and the old may be seen side by side and that it is the trend of the people to make Mexico for Mexicans. In conclusion she displayed various pieces of handicraft made by the natives.

"The Modern Masterpiece," a play by Dere Etheridge, was read by Mrs. Edward Gibson.

The next meeting of the Sorosis will be a Christmas party Thursday, Dec. 16. Mrs. Ambrose Middleton, Park avenue west, will entertain at her home.

Activities of Social Clubs

At a meeting early this week the We'uns club was organized when Miss Frances Case and Miss Vivian Stiner were joint hostesses. Miss Arlene Bell was named chairman. The evening was spent socially.

Other charter members of the group are the Misses Marjorie Bell, Marion and Ruth Blaney, Annie Lou Olson and Ruth Sawyer.

Eight members of the Navajo club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Cora Maxwell, South Mulberry street, to play hearts. Mrs. H. H. Ruby was a guest. The next meeting will be a six o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. Carrie Ross, 26 Lamberton avenue, Dec. 14. This will be a Christmas exchange. Prizes during the evening were awarded to Mrs. Mary Baird and Mrs. Ada Lurz.

* * *

Mrs. H. L. Stafford, Woodland avenue, was hostess last night to two tables of 500 when members of the Amateur club met at her home. Prize winners were Mrs. Lewis Meyer, Mrs. William Stull and Mrs. Jack Natuch. Miss Mabel Young was a guest. The next meeting will be Dec. 15 at the home of Mrs. Meyer, State street. This will be a Christmas exchange.

Tourist Meeting Turns to Papers On Two Subjects

"A Line or Two from McGuffey's" was the topic for a paper given by Mrs. C. W. Fritz yesterday at the meeting of the Tourist club. This paper gave incidents from his life, history of the times, and personal glimpses.

In connection with this paper members of the club answered roll call with selections from McGuffey readers Mrs. Sidney Palmer then gave a paper on "Maternal Welfare," which was followed by readings by a guest, Mrs. Bronker.

Mrs. W. H. Lutz was hostess to the organization. A social hour followed the program. The next meeting will be Dec. 14 with Mrs. R. F. Miller as hostess. This will be a Christmas meeting with Mrs. W. S. Valmore giving a Christmas story and Mrs. A. E. Merkel presenting carols.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONFIDENCE NECESSARY

HIGH BLOOD pressure is not usually a desirable thing in a bridge game. But sometimes it is advisable to use tactics which nearly give that to your partner, until he finds what are the cards upon which you base your action. If you continue to force and force him, with his worthless hand, the question of how badly he is agitated depends solely upon his confidence in you and whether or not he feels sure you have the cards to justify your bids.

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

When West opened the bidding with 1-Club on this deal in a rubber game, North used unusual tactics to force his partner to decide for him at which suit his slam contract should be played. played.

Over West's 1-Club, North called 2-Clubs, and East jumped 5-Clubs. This bid passed around to North, who now bid 6-Clubs. West passed and South called 6-Diamonds. West doubled this and North now bid 7-Clubs. When this came around to South he decided that it was not diamonds his partner was interested in, so tried 7-Hearts.

South, with his apparently worthless cards, explained later that he was far from happy during the proceedings, but the situation righted itself as soon as the dummy was revealed. He, of course, had no difficulty in executing his contract.

"Live, Love and Learn."

Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell in their first screen appearance together since their joint triumph in "Night Must Fall" are co-starred in "Live, Love and Learn," opening at the Ohio theater Thursday. In the film Montgomery is seen as a penniless Greenwich village painter who marries Miss Russell, member of New York's wealthiest social set. She prefers love in a garret to wealth and society. Consequently, when by a quirk of fate, Montgomery becomes both wealthy and famous, his domestic problems become complicated, particularly when another woman enters the scene. Heading the supporting cast are Robert Benchley, Helen Vinson and Monty Woolley. Fred Astaire in "A Damsel in Distress," plays through today.

Stage Drama In Film.

Conveying the unforgettable qualities of the original stage drama, the screen version of "Madame X," opened a three-day stand at the Madison theater today with Gladys George in the leading role. The story has been advanced into more modern dress than the original play. The period now covered is from 1920 to the present. One of the highlights of the picture is the courtroom scene in which a young lawyer-son defends his mother, whom he doesn't know, from a charge of murder. The story travels from the Riviera to Paris, then to New Orleans and back to Paris. Others in the cast are Warren William, John Beal and Reginald Owen.

Seeks Titled Husband.

The adventures of a young actress, seeking publicity, who goes to Europe to "buy" a titled husband forms the plot of "Expensive Husbands," one of the features at the Majestic. Then she proceeds to fall in love with a suave waiter. The agent whom she hires to locate the husband turns up with the waiter, a real prince, temporarily on the outs with his family. They are married and after quarreling Miss Roberts returns to Hollywood where she again achieves stardom. Patric Knowles portrays the prince with Allyn Joslyn and Gordon Oliver in the supporting roles. The second feature is "The Locked Door."

Kenny Baker at Ritz.

Kenny Baker, one of radio's singing favorites, heads the cast in, "Mr. Dodd Takes the Air," current attraction at the Ritz theater. The film, adopted from a novel by Clarence Budington Kelland, follows the adventures of a country boy, an electrician, who was picked up by a broadcasting advertiser while singing at a strawberry festival. Before he begins work at a radio station he has to have a throat operation. This changes his voice and he is fired by his employer. The balance of the film deals with his rise to fame as a singer. Jane Wyman, Frank McHugh, Alice Brady and Gertrude Michael support the singing star. "As Good As Married," with John Boles and Doris Nolan completes the entertainment.

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, December 2.

JUDGING BY the solar-lunar conjunction, this should be day for promotion, preferment, increase of salary or other token of recognition from employers, superiors, executives and those in authority or power. It is a time for seeking the support and co-operation of such persons, but beware of an unbridled, critical or malicious tongue. Also safeguard all writings.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of splendid prospects for progress, promotion, increase of salary, preferment, honors and other substantial tokens of approbation from employers, superiors and those in authority. Seek these with assurance and courage.

A child born on this day may be capable, responsible and ambitious attracting the attention of employers, executives and those in influential places who will be generously disposed and assist in its advancement. But it must be disciplined in the use of a critical tongue.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"It's NOT my mind but your mother's that's troubled," I told Dicky in answer to his gibing question when he had obeyed my private signal to see me alone.

'Oho!" he exclaimed. I thought something must be in the wind when you and the mater had that run-in about the jam. It sounded phoney, but I guess the kids didn't catch on. Well, what's on her mind?"

"She wants somebody to go with Mary and Noel today," I told him. "She's terribly obsessed about there being danger from Jack Leslie."

His face was suddenly grave.

"That's one on me," he said. "I ought to have thought of that myself. Not that I think there's the slightest danger; that lad's too busy trying to contact your father about those emeralds, to be thinking of anything else just now. But there's always the millionth chance, and we ought to guard against it."

"But won't that ruin the afternoon for Noel and Mary?" I asked worriedly. "I'm sure they intend going to some one of their old haunts—"

"The first place he kissed her, or the one where she said 'yes,'" Dicky finished. "Do you know me so little as to think I'd plan to spoil anything like that? Nay, nay, old Darling. I'll just get hold of a man your father has used before, who can be depended upon to trail those two all over the island, keep near enough to them, so that he could spring to the rescue if Jack Leslie appeared, and yet never let himself be in evidence where they could suspect any espionage. How does that suit you?"

"So well that I think you'd better start getting him as soon as possible," I told him, smiling.

"Okay! I'll get him on the telephone at once, give him the number of the car they're going to use, have him parked down the road a bit, ready to trail them unobtrusively when they leave here, and all before we let them go. I'll give you the office when everything's set, and you can tip Mother off."

"I'll go back to them now, and help delay the game as long as possible," I said. "Suppose I get Jim in and have Noel give him full instructions about servicing the car down at the village, and seeing to that clutch adjustment. That will use up several minutes."

"Good idea," he said. "Pity the clutch didn't go flooey altogether, then they'd have to stay a day longer anyway."

I was glad he had turned away as he spoke, for I was conscious that my face was flaming at his unexpected but pat comment.

"Will you send Jim to the veranda in a few minutes?" I called after him.

Jim Summoned.

"Sure thing, pronto," he called back, and was as good as his word for I was barely back on the veranda myself and had had no opportunity to interrupt Mother Graham's fluent flow of questions, before Jim came up the steps.

"Mister Graham said you wanted to see me, Mis' Graham," he said deferentially, twisting his cap awkwardly in his hands.

"Yes, come in, Jim," I said, and with an "Excuse me," to Mother Graham, turned to Noel and Mary.

"Jim will take your car down to the garage and have it fully serviced for the morning, while you are gone to the beach," I told them. "Is there anything special you want to have done?"

"Why, yes," Noel turned to Jim, explaining. "There's something flooey in the clutch. It's acting up a bit, not much, but I'd like to have it looked over before I start back. I think all it needs is adjusting."

Give Instructions.

"Where would you like me to take it, Mr. Noel?" Jim asked.

"That garage opposite the park is the best bet, I think, or was when I was here. Does the same chap run it?" He turned to me.

"He has for ten years," I told him.

"Then he's the one," Noel answered with evident relief, and then he pulled some bills from his pocket and put them into Jim's hand.

"That's for expenses," he said. "If there's anything more, let me know."

I did not dare to demur, or insist upon paying for the servicing ourselves, as I ordinarily would have done with a member of the farmhouse family. But I wanted to get Jim away as soon as possible. His face had looked so amazed at the mention of the balky clutch that I feared he might arouse some suspicion in Noel's mind when our plan of snapping the clutch should be accomplished.

BUILDING SLUMP REFLECTED BY CITY RECORDS

Construction In November Is Down $41,000 Compared to Previous Month.

The seasonal slump in building construction was reflected in November valuations that totaled 56,126, a drop of more than $41,000 from the October figure of $97,515, a survey of building permit records showed today.

Building projects for the 11-month period this year, including alterations, additions, residential, business and industrial construction, were valued at $1,105,169 compared to $1,818,276 recorded for the same period last year.

Fewer Homes Built.

While the number of new homes under construction this year was 18 less than that last year, valuations in new homes construction eclipsed those of 1936 by more than $28,000.

A total of 142 new residences have been biult this year at the estimated cost of $835,050, as compared with the 160 residences constructed in 1936 at a cost of $807,530.

Only eight residential permits were issued during November as compared to 15 for the month previous, while the average value of new homes for which permits have been issued dropped to $4,600 as compared to the October average of $5,600.

MOB FEARED

Police Guarding Junk Man Held In Murder of Girl, 11.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va.—(U.P.)—Fearing mob violence, police held Mike Ritter, 77, a junk man, in asecret prison today. He killed an 11 year old child and wounded a 12 year old one because they had scribbled in chalk on his board fence.

Ritter, an eccentric and recluse, has lived for years in a ramshackle shanty, surrounded by a high board fence, making his living by collecting junk. He has been a frequent target for the prankish and derisive jokes of children.

Late yesterday, he surprised Sue Stokes, 11, and Mary Coleman, 12, marking up his fence with chalk. He had denounced children many times before for chalking his fence—to their vast amusement. On this occasion, police said, he rushed into his shanty, got a revolver, and fired three times. Sue was killed and Mary was wounded severely.

HEAR GLATTKE

Bucyrus Fathers, Sons Hold Annual Banquet at Church.

BUCYRUS — Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent of the Ohio reformatory at Mansfield, was the guest speaker at the annual Father and Son banquet at Good Hope Lutheran church Tuesday night.

Music during the dinner included selections by John Sponseller, violin, and John Gebhardt and Hillis Schieber, trumpets. Bob Pickering played a piano solo and the Good Hope pep band played several selections under the direction of Kenneth Gravelle.

W. A. Blicke presided as master of ceremonies and Millard E. Schieber, president of the Good Hope Brotherhood welcomed the sons. William Ahl responded.

During the address younger boys were entertained with stories and a movie.

RITES ARE SET

ASHLAND — Funeral services for George F. Walton, 60, native of Meigs county, who died at the home of a son Monday night after a lingering illness, will be held in Meigs county Thursday afternoon. Mr. Walton had come to Ashland only two weeks ago to make his home here.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Louisa M. Walton; three sons, Hobert F. of Cleveland, Leonard of Steamtown, and Elmer of Lorain; two brothers, one sister and several grandchildren.

BUYS MIAMI TRIBUNE

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—John S. ## LOSES APPEAL

Ohioan to Serve Term for Killing Neighbor.

COLUMBUS — (AP)— Harry J. Chestnut of Shaker Heights will have to serve a penitentiary sentence of one to 20 years for slaying his neighbor, Rudolph J. Kraemer, as a result of the state supreme court today refusing to consider his appeal.

The two men fought while cleaning their sidewalks of snow, Dec. 20, 1935, and Chestnut shot his neighbor. He said Kraemer had attacked him with a snow shovel.

SAYS ANALYSIS KEY TO SUCCESS

Wisehaupt Addresses 1,100 In First of Three Lectures at Senior High Auditorium.

factory managers to do "less firing and more studying" of their help as an answer to business problems.

"If a girl clerk isn't doing the work you expect of her, don't discharge her; maybe she's in the wrong department and a little shifting of help will solve the difficulty," he advised.

"Much of the unhappiness and failure in life is due to misfits, which a proper study of human character, whether it involves the misfit himself or others, will correct. If a man is interested in his work he will be happy and forget about the clock when he's on the job.

"Out of every nine men there are two who stand out. The other seven are satisfied as they are and make no effort to get ahead. Everyone has a spark of ambition and desire, but most people never get the fuse lighted."

Adding that "it often takes a swift kick to wake a man up and start him on the right track." Wisehaupt said the kick can be a man's love for a woman or the stimulus in the interest of a friend who understands what the sufferer needs.

Wisehaupt blamed many of the business and professional misfits on the wrong home training for children.

"Four out of five workers are on the wrong job at 35 because their parents wanted them to do the same things they do," he declared. "When you get interested in youngsters, tragedies don't happen. The trouble is that parents quit being pals to their sons and daughters too early and leave the job of making men and women of them to the school teachers."

Women offer the best field for studying business problems, he said, since they do 73 per cent of the buying for the home and influence most of their husbands' purchases. The merchant's duty is to sell women the good sportsmanship idea which makes them buy at home stores through loyalty and the realization that home business is what builds home culture, Wisehaupt pointed out.

Wisehaupt was introduced last night by John W. Graham, general manager of The News-Journal, after the Mansfield high school orchestra played three numbers. The orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgenson, will play again at tonight's meeting.

Complimentary tickets for the two remaining lectures may be obtained from The News-Journal, Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants association or retail establishments in the city.

PLANS AMATEUR SHOW TO HELP FILL YULE BASKETS FOR NEEDY

The Junior Association of Commerce today announced plans for an amateur night and "community sing" which they will sponsor at Senior high school auditorium Saturday, Dec. 11, at 8:30 p. m.

The community sing will be carried out on the same plan that these popular singing events are being staged all over the country. The words of old favorite songs will be printed on folders and given to each person in the audience.

Amateur talent of Mansfield will be rounded up for preliminary auditions before the night of the program, and 14 of the best acts will be selected for presentation to the public.

Prizes of 25 for first place, $10 for second and $5 for third, will be awarded the winners on the final night at Senior high school. The preliminary try-outs will be heard at the American Legion home by members of the Junior Association of Commerce.

Entry blanks for the amateur night program may be obtained from merchants who are aiding the Junior group. They are: Rogers and Company, Quality Furniture company, The Harpster company, Page Dairy, Martin Hardware company, and the Gas company. Full details of the "sing" will be found in the advertising section of today's News-Journal.

All applications must be filed before midnight, Dec. 7, and should be mailed to either Attorney James Hoffman or Attorney Frances O'Brien, both in the Richland Trust building.

Tickets for the "sing" are being sold by members of the Junior Association of Commerce. Proceeds from the event, above expenses, will be divided between the Community Christmas Basket fund and the Friendly House.

SETS UP PLAN ON DELINQUENCY

Advisory Council's Program Aims at Legislative and Recreation Changes.

Atty. Francis O'Brien and Glenn Robinson were appointed.

Anderson suggested that the committee ask the legislature to revise the state liquor code by segregating saloons and restaurants with the proper name applied to the liquor permit holders.

He advocated closing all liquor establishments at midnight and on Sundays and excluding all persons under 21 years old from all establishments of permit holders.

He also urged that no female help be permitted to work in any establishment handling intoxicating liquors.

For the purpose of promoting an extensive recreation and vocational program, widely diversified to include both boys and girls, a recreation committee of six members was named by Bates with Roy Spetka as the chairman. The other members are Ralph Chapman, W. L. Miller, Floyd Dent, Russell Gimble and Miss Margaret West.

DOOMED, GIVES SLAYING CLUE

Kentuckian Provides Tip In Murder of Bride-to-Be.

COVINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Kenton county Police Chief George E. Langley announced today that Harold Van Venison, 36, colored, condemned to hang for a criminal attack on a woman, had given information which may solve the mysterious shooting last year of Miss Frances Marie Brady a short time before she was to be married.

Langley said Venison gave him the name of another colored man in Cincinnati and also told him where the fatal revolver could be found. The other man was arrested in Cincinnati last night and held without bond on a technical charge of loitering. His case was continued to Dec. 7.

The revolver was sent to ballistics experts in Louisville for examination.

DENIED MOTION

Dingledine Refused Venue Change For Murder Trial.

SPRINGFIELD —(AP)— Common Pleas Judge Golden C. Davis overruled today a motion to move the first degree murder trial of Harry Dingledine to another county. Dingledine, one of three men accused in the deaths of two Springfield peace officers in a gun battle Sept. 3, will go on trial here tomorrow.

RITES ARRANGED

GALION — The body of Mrs. Elizabeth Wayne, 63, of Marion, former Galion resident, will be brought to Galion Thursday for burial in Fairview cemetery beside the body of her husband, William F. Wayne, who died Oct. 31, 1934. Her husband was an Erie railroad engineer. She was born in Galion, Feb. 23, 1874, the daughter of William and Mary Trodt. She died Sunday afternoon at the home of her brother, William H. Trodt of Hammond, Ind.

DECIDE ON FUND

BUCYRUS—At a meeting of the Community Chest board of directors Tuesday, members voted to reduce the emergency fund budget from $1,500 to $400, it was announced today by Millard Schieber, general chairman of the drive.

To date $9,272 has been pledged toward the quota of $10,790.

Agencies benefiting by the chest are the Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., Boy and Girl Scout organizations, and the emergency fund.

FINDS WIFE'S BODY

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— Thompson Jackson of nearby Gaysport reported to the sheriff's office yesterday that he had found the body of his wife hanged from a basement rafter.

KID McCOY, HAPPY WITH BRIDE NO. 9, WARNS OF 'EASY DOUGH'

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Norman Selby, the Kid McCoy of fistiana, was back in town today, carrying the weight of 64 years on stout shoulders and looking the picture of a happy bridegroom.

"I've got everything straightened out at last," he said.

With him was dark-haired Mrs. McCoy No. 9, whom he married Aug. 2 at Rushville, Ind.

It was 13 years ago he left to serve a manslaughter term for the fatal shooting of Mrs. Theresa Mors, a divorcee he was engaged to marry. But he is free, now.

"Listen, boys," the one-time middleweight champion of the world said, "this is what I've learned in 64 years. The easy dough is hardest to hang onto.... The bright lights go out the darkest.

"Liquor and Kid McCoy don't mix.... I haven't taken a drink in 13 years, and I don't expect to ever again.

"I'm not knocking anything, and I'm not preaching. I'm the same old kid. Just learned a few things, that's all."

The oldtime fighter was paroled to Henry Ford in July, 1932, and has been employed since by the Ford company in Detroit. He took a three months' leave of absence, he said, to drive west.

"The future? I'm not sure. Seems to me this would be a good place for a health institute, and I know how to run one.

"I'm a writer, now, you know. Got a book coming out this month. It's mainly about me and my fights. I fought 200 and lost two of 'em. I just call it 'The McCoy'."

HIT BY BLAST

Explosion at British Plant Rocks Countryside.

LONDON—(AP)—A terrific explosion shook the Royal Gun Powder factory at Waltham Abbey in Essex today.

A hospital less than two miles from the factory, 12 miles northeast of London, felt the force of the explosion, and nurses saw flames light the sky.

The factory has its own fire brigade, hospital and nursing staff.

The Waltham Abbey gunpowder factory is one of four munitions works operated by the war office. There are about 2,000 men employed at the plant.

A plant official said: "I don't believe anyone was hurt."

URGES CHINA TO ASK FOR PEACE

Editorial, Believed Written By Duce, Says Powers Won't Help.

MILAN—(AP)—In an editorial believed to have been written by Premier Mussolini, his newspaper Il Popolo D' Italia contended today that China can expect no help from other powers acting collectively and counselled China, therefore, to ask Japan for peace.

The editorial referred pointedly to the recent inconclusive Brussels conference on the far eastern conflict and to American participation after President Roosevelt's Chicago speech against aggressor nations.

"If China still believes in any assistance of a collective character," the newspaper said in part, "this means it is destined to suicide."

LONG LAY-OFF

200 State Employes Eye Assembly For Payroll Fund.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Walter W. Mitchell, a member of the state tax commission, said today that 200 employes furloughed Nov. 6 would remain on their payless vacations indefinitely unless the legislature acted on the commission's request for a supplemental appropriation.

HEADS TEACHERS

B. W. Myers New President of Galion Group.

GALION—B. W. Myers, principal of the South school building, was elected president of the Classroom Teachers' association of the Galion public schools at a meeting held Tuesday after school.

A vote on the officers as recommended by the nominating committee headed by Richard Horn resulted as follows: vice president, E. R. Pickering, Junior High principal; secretary, Viola Delph; treasurer, W. Ketchem; new member to the executive board, Richard Patterson.

The meeting was presided over by C. H. Rensch who has served as head of the organization during the past year. Other businesses included reports by the various chairmen of committees. Comments on the coming school program and other problems were made by O. E. Hill, superintendent of schools.

YULE VACATION DATE CHANGED

SHELBY — The Shelby public schools will have its Christmas vacation from Dec. 23 to Jan. 3 instead of the week beginning Dec. 26, C. G. Keck, superintendent, announced today. Action had been taken by the board of education to accommodate families wishing to make a long Christmas trip, Keck said, as well as for the teachers who go to their homes for the holidays.

AGENTS EXPOSE OPERATIONS OF NARCOTIC RING

$1,000,000 Racket Extended From Shanghai to Gotham, Indictments Charge.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The federal government exposed today the activities of an international ring that smuggled at least $1,000,000 worth of narcotics into the United States while customs officers allegedly looked the other way.

Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, a fugitive described as New York City's Public Enemy No. 1, and 29 other men and women were named in an indictment charging conspiracy to violate federal narcotics laws and the bribery of public officials. Bench warrants were issued for Buchalter and nine other fugitives.

Launch Raids.

After a two-year investigation, which began in Shanghai and ended in New York and Washington, customs agents and officers of the federal bureau of narcotics conducted simultaneous raids and took into custody 19 named in the indictment. They were arraigned before Federal Judge Vincent L. Leibell and held in bail ranging from $2,500 to $50,000.

Buchalter was accused of having recently helped to finance round-the-world "tours" for several men and women, who allegedly brought back trunks filled with heroin from the Orient. The customs men allegedly received $1,000 every time they averted their eyes when smugglers disembarked from trans-Atlantic liners.

The customs men arrested were Charles Barrett and Ralph Beges, inspectors, held in $2,000 bail each, and Al Hoffman, a guard, held in $5,000 bail. John McAdams, former roundsman, who was dismissed some time ago for violation of rules, was held in $25,000 bail.

ASKED TO AID

School Children Urged to Buy Nickel's Worth of Seals.

School children will be urged to buy a nickel's worth of Christmas health seals during the campaign which ends Dec. 24, George H. Smith, city chairman of the drive, said today.

Smith pointed out that the schools are not assisting in the seal distribution this year.

"Many people are waiting to purchase seals from the pupils," Smith said, "but the boys and girls are not in the business."

He added that every pupil who buys five cents worth of seals gets a bangle pin, showing that a contribution has been made to the fund for combatting tuberculosis.

Nearly 37,000 seals, worth $3,700, have been mailed in blocks of 100 to residents of the city and county. If the recipient of the stamps wants to buy them, he is requested to return the money to the county committee, Smith added. Unsold stamps are also to be returned.

CAMP PERRY HIT BY BLAZE

$10,000 Fire Ruins Offices on Military Grounds.

CAMP PERRY—(U.P.)—Fire today destroyed the interior of four office rooms in the building in which Col. Harry Kerr, superintendent of Camp Perry, had his headquarters.

The fire was thought to have started from an overheated stove. The damage was estimated at $10,000. Equipment in the office was destroyed.

Col. Kerr will establish temporary headquarters in the commissary building. The walls of the damaged building are of concrete. The fire was confined to the north end of the building.

TUBE COMPANY PAYS DIVIDEND

SHELBY — The Ohio Seamless Tube company declared a dividend of $3.50 on its 7 per cent preferred stock to stockholders of record at the close of business on Dec. 11, yesterday at the board of directors meeting, E. W. McNeill, secretary, announced today. The books will close against transfer from Dec. 13 to Jan. 2, McNeill said.

FUNERAL SET

ASHLAND—Funeral services for Mrs. Ida Mae Wynn, 70, resident of this county for 20 years, who died at her home here early Tuesday from a heart attack, will be held Thursday at Gilbert's chapel with Rev. A. H. Smith of the Trinity Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be made in Ashland cemetery.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Bertha Mann of Jeromesville, Mrs. Mable Liter of Mt. Vernon and Mrs. Thompson; and a sister, Mrs. Martha Soles of Ashland.

TALKS TO CLUB

GALION—Robert M. Luckey, a regional manager for the Galion Metallic Vault company was the speaker Tuesday noon for the Kiwanis luncheon meeting at Carmel's. He addressed the group about the funeral supply industry. He was introduced by E. P. Monroe. Ralph Smith presented a ventriloquist act. Other guests at the meeting included M. W. Milam, H. E. Timm of Cleveland; D. G. Strother, H. L. Ekin and George McClure of Galion.

HOLD INTERVIEWS TONIGHT

The second in a series of private interviews for Mansfield young people, sponsored by the Christian Youth Forum, will be held at 7 p. m. today at the United Brethren church. Interviews will be conducted by a Mansfield minister, physician, a business and professional man, and a business and professional woman.

HERE'S NEWS ON YULE SHOW

Charity Program to Be City's 'Passing Parade of 1937'; Set For Dec. 18.

Baird, Charles E. Newcomb and R. O. Richard, who stage shows frequently for Westinghouse, and Jane Williams of the News-Journal staff.

The new Westinghouse swing band directed by Richards and the Marquerite Speas chorus which was a hit at last year's charity show, will send the cash customers out into the cold crisp dawn muttering "I can't believe that was all Mansfield talent."

And diminutive Jane Wilson, the little gal with the grand voice, who will be home for the show before rejoining the Fred Waring orchestra in New York City for the band's opening at the Paramount theater on Dec. 29, will be a bright star of the Parade. Jane returned home last week from Washington when the Waring band was given a vacation.

Then there's the trio of girls, Jane Weuthrich, Dorothy Clingan and Ruth Cox, who started singing together for fun a few years ago and who now grab a big "hand" whenever they appear. The girls are not only an eye-ful but they can SING. Then there will be Beatrice Kochenderfer, who has been charming folks around town by whispering something about a "Little Buckaroo" into a microphone, and Mary Sabolick, Mansfield's skating dancing star; and the Claypool Brothers who dance in such perfect unison that the spectators think they are one.

And then the "March of Time" a half hour of swiftly-moving "black-outs" depicting, in caricature, the news of the past year; a dramatization of the year's headlines on local events. But all in fun, we warn you, and the first "victim" who "gets up on his ear" as being depicted in the show, will be shot at sunrise—or thereabouts.

It's going to be a lot of fun, entertainment value 100 per cent—and best of all, it's Mansfield's way of giving a Christmas dinner to hundreds of needy families.

HELPS VET, 95, CLEAR NAME

Ashbrook Intercedes For Ohioan Wrongfully Classed As Deserter.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Representative Ashbrook (D.-Ohio) said today the war department had approved his bill to clear the record of a 94-year-old Civil war veteran classed as an army deserter through error.

Lester Cooley, Croton, O., was listed as a deserter because he failed to return from a 20-day furlough granted while he was recovering from wounds. His surgeon advised him to continue the furlough but apparently forgot to notify army officers of his action, Ashbrook said.

"This is the first time in my memory the war department has reported favorably on such a bill and its action assures passage of the measure either at the special session or early in the regular session," Ashbrook said.

BOWERS ESTATE SET AT $104,000

Inventory and Appraisement on File In Court All Goes to His Widow.

An estate totaling $104,772 was left by Harry L. Bowers, Mansfield political leader and business man, at his death Sept. 23, according to the inventory and appraisement on file today in probate court.

The estate, bequeathed to Mr. Bowers' widow, Margaret, includes $54,403 in stocks and securities; real estate holdings valued at $37,295 and cash and accounts receivable amounting to $13,074.

The bulk of the securities are in government bonds, with small holdings in the Mansfield Telephone company and the Mansfield-Leland Hotel company. Real estate investments listed include two lots in Mansfield, part interest in four others in the city and 14 acres of land in Springfield township west of the city.

Mr. Bowers' will, filed three weeks ago, provides that his nephew, Marion D. Ward, jr., Mansfield attorney, shall receive the entire estate at the death of Mrs. Bowers. M. D. Ward, sr., and Mrs. Bowers are executors of the estate.

The appraisal was made by A. F. Porter, R. H. King and G. A. Davis.

A prominent figure in Mansfield political circles for nearly a half century, Mr. Bowers was a member of the Republican executive committee for 42 years. With his brother-in-law, M. D. Ward, sr., he operated the H. L. Bowers Cigar company.
